Ike Concludes His Campaign Swing Today

Renews Battle For GOP Congress With Blast At Democrats

By The Associated Press

President Eisenhower concludes his cross-country campaign swing today, accused by Adlai Stevenson of joining Vice President Nixon "in a desperate, intolerable, demagoguery type of campaign."

With Eisenhower returning to Washington from his weeklong speaking tour, Nixon again took over the brunt of the Republican campaign for GOP congressional candidates with a swing into New York.

Eisenhower carried on his battle for a Republican Congress Wednesday night in Chicago with a renewed blast at "radical" Democrats and Democratic economic policies.

In the same hard-hitting campaign style he first unveiled in California, he told some 4,500 cheering party workers his administration has licked the recession without "a federal wheel chair," in spite of what he termed radical demands from congressional Democrats for huge spending programs.

Eisenhower's repeated use of the word "radical" during his tour brought heated criticism from Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic presidential opponent in 1952 and 1956.

"The old Nixon has been joined by the new Ike—or a new speech writer—in a desperate, intolerable demagoguery type of campaign," Stevenson told a meeting of Democratic precinct chiefs in Chicago.

Joining Eisenhower in praise of administration economic policies, Nixon told New England audiences that radical Democrats will go to Congress if GOP Senate and House candidates are defeated in the North and West.

At a party rally in Providence, R.I., Nixon said the Eisenhower administration has managed to curb "the runaway inflation it inherited from the Democratic par-

But, he said, "this administration may well find it impossible to keep these curbs if the Democrats from the free-spending wing of the party — the radcial group from the North and East—seize control of Congress and are able to overwhelm the moderate forces of the Republican party and the Southern Democrats."

In New York, former President Harry S. Truman voiced disagreement with Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler on the issue of Southern Democrats who oppose the party's stand on civil rights.

Motions Seek Jury Trial On 'Bookie' Case

Motions have been filed in Municipal Court asking jury trials for two men facing gambling charges in connection with alleged booking of race horse bets in the Village Green tavern.

The motions were filed on behalf of Alfred Nitsche, 820 Ohio Ave., Midland, and Harry S. Pease of near Rogers, who were taken into custody by police Sept. 30 after a week-long undercover investigation by two agents of the State Liquor Control Department.

Trial of the case has been set tentatively for next Wednesday. Before the trial starts, however, Judge George L. Brokaw is scheduled to hear arguments on a defense motion to "suppress" evidence seized in the case by the state agents. It includes horse bet tickets from Waterford Park, a $10 bill and other printed matter, according to the defense motion.

Pease is the permit-holder for the tavern and Nitsche is the operator. The defendants indicated several weeks ago they would seek a jury trial. The formal motion for a jury was filed in separate motions by the defense counsel, Atty. George Aronson of East Liverpool, Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara of Wellsville and Atty. Hugo Alexander of Steubenville.

Pease and Nitsche entered not guilty pleas Oct. 1. They are free on $500 bonds. A hearing was scheduled on the motion to suppress the evidence last Friday, but it was continued until the trial date in order that the two state agents would be available for defense questioning.

Named Planning Head

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—Curtis G. White, 28, editor of the weekly Barberton Herald, was appointed Wednesday to the $7,500 post of city planning director.

Russian Wins Nobel Prize In Literature

Pasternak, Poet And Author, Cited For His Anti-Red Novel

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Boris Pasternak, the Russian poet and author of the anti-Communist novel "Doctor Zhivago," today was awarded the 1958 Nobel Prize in Literature.

The award was the most dramatic in years. The 68-year-old author still lives just outside Moscow. The Soviet government has not permitted publication in Russia of his monumental novel about what communism has done to freedom and tried to prevent its publication abroad.

The award, worth $41,420, was certain to be interpreted by many as a slap in the face for the Soviet government. There was speculation that the Soviet authorities would not allow Pasternak to receive his prize, or would take reprisals against him.

Known as the greatest living poet writing in the Russian language, Pasternak despaired of publishing creative writing of his own under Stalin and for years devoted himself to translations of such foreign classics as Goethe and Shakespeare.

"Doctor Zhivago"—upon which he had been working quietly for 10 years—was completed in 1956 during the de-Stalinization period of comparative freedom for writers. But to make certain it was published, he sent it abroad by a friend.

The monumental novel first appeared in Italy in Italian last year and was published in the United States last month.

Critics have hailed its sweeping breadth and placed it in the tradition of Tolstoy's "War and Peace."

Group Hears State Official

Traffic Report Proposes Citizens' Council For City

A recommendation for establishment of a well-financed Citizens' Safety Council with top leadership highlighted a 23-page summary of East Liverpool's safety record in 1957 presented to a group of 20 city officials and civic leaders Wednesday afternoon at City Hall.

The report, prepared by the National Safety Council, was read and discussed by Andrew J. Pavlik of Columbus, traffic safety supervisor for the Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

The summary declared that East Liverpool should have "a citizens' safety organization with adequate budget and top leadership to develop interest in and support for needed traffic improvements."

It added: "Whether the organization is called a safety council, traffic commission or other name is not important. The important thing is that all community resources, officials and citizens, cooperate to deal with the traffic problem effectively."

Establishment of such local groups was given No. 1 priority at a meeting of the President's Public Officials Traffic Safety Conference in December 1957 at Washington, the report pointed out.

It called for the chief executive of each U. S. city to "establish a co-ordinating committee of city officials, with the mayor serving as active chairman."

The mayor "should insure that the committee meets frequently

3 Men Believed Trapped In Mine At Shippingport

Roof Falls, Seals Trio In Coal Works

Crew Of Adjoining Firm Starts Into Debris-Laden Pit

BULLETIN!

One of the trio trapped in the Shippingport coal mine was reported to have been rescued about 1:30 and was taken in an ambulance to the Rochester General Hospital. His indentification and condition were not known immediately.

Three men, one from Shippingport, were believed trapped in a private coal mine about two miles north of Hookstown about 12:30 this afternoon when a section of the roof collapsed.

Jack Call, son of Mrs. Betty Call of Shippingport, was reported to be in the mine along with two other men from Beaver County. The mine is owned by Call's father, John Call of Aliquippa.

A witness, who ventured about 1,000 feet into the mine, said a large rock and other debris had blocked the passage further into the mine, which was reopened about two months ago by the men in a search for coal.

Men from the Dow-Lin Coal Co. near Shippingport entered to dig away at the debris with shovels and picks in an effort to reach the trapped trio.

One witness said many of the rescue team believe the men may be dead or injured badly.

The mine is located on Minesinger Hill along Route 168.

The ambulance of the Welch Funeral Home of Hookstown was standing by.

First Balloon Satellite Fails To Gain Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—America's first balloon satellite apparently was lost in the vastness of space today, and no one knew just why.

The Army launched a Jupiter-C rocket Wednesday night containing the collapsed 12-foot-diameter sphere, and tracked it by radio for about six minutes.

Then the signals went dead.

Early today, military and civilian scientists in charge acknowledged that "it is practically certain the experiment was not successful and an orbit was not achieved."

"Radio records received from the satellite instrument package show the performance of the rocket was not normal," they said.

It was a disheartening end to an ambitious project for hurling into an 18,000-m.p.h. orbit around the earth an object which would be visible to the unaided human eye at distances up to 1,500 miles.

By tracking it from observation points in many lands, scientists had hoped to learn much about the mysteries of that remote area where the earth's atmosphere ends and interplanetary space begins.

Crucible Head Sees Improvement For Steel

Joel Hunter, president of the Crucible Steel Co., said in connection with the quarterly report Wednesday "our business has improved considerably since July and increased volume and better earnings can be expected for the rest of the year."

The company reported net income of $854,374 for the third quarter for 22 cents per share. Sales increased to $43.3 million from $41.3 million in the previous quarter. In the third quarter of 1957, Crucible reported a loss of $225,119 on sales of $49.5 million

Sales for the first nine months of 1958 were $129.2 million with net income of $1,253,701, or 33 cents per share, against $5,820,877 income on $185.2 million sales for $1.60 per share in the first nine months of 1957.

Driver Killed Instantly As Car Hits Tree

Leetonia Youth, 21, Pinned In Wreckage For 45 Minutes

County's 1958 Traffic Toll

18 KILLED

This date in 1957—16 Killed!

DON'T TEMPT FATE IN '58

LISBON — A 21-year-old Leetonia radio repairman was killed early today when his car smashed into a tree on Route 344 a half mile east of Leetonia, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Jerry L. Hisey of N. Lisbon St., Leetonia, was killed instantly when his car swerved off a curve, crossed the roadway and rammed the tree, officers said.

It took about 45 minutes to remove his crushed body from the demolished coach, officers said. The mishap was timed at 1:10 a. m.

This marked Columbiana County's 18th traffic fatality so far this year, compared to 16 this time in 1957.

A son of Mrs. Beatrice Rouse Hisey and the late Lester Hisey, he was born at Leetonia Nov. 24, 1936. He served 18 months in Germany with the Signal Corps and was discharged a year ago.

He was employed at the City Radio & Television Co. of Columbiana and was a member of the Methodist Church.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a brother, Jack Hisey at home, and a sister, Mrs. Lester Johnson of Leetonia.

The body was removed to the Woods Funeral Home. Arrangements are pending.

Early Ballot Issuance Due To Hit 400 Today

Issuance of absentee and disabled voters' ballots for the Nov. 4 election will hit the 400 mark today, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Columbiana County Election Board, predicted this morning.

The total stood at 374 as business got under way today. The board has issued 282 civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots. Ninety-two have been issued under the Ohio "soldier voting law" for persons in the armed forces and civilians residing temporarily outside the United States.

For Return To Mainland

Nationalist Chief Renounces Force

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek ended his talks with Secretary of State Dulles today by renouncing force as the main method of recovering the Communist-ruled mainland.

It was learned on good authority that Chiang also had agreed to consider cutting his off-shore island forces if the Communists silence their guns. This was not contained, however, in a joint communique ending three days of talks with Dulles.

Chiang said in the communique it is still the sacred mission of the Nationalists to return to the mainland. But he added: "The foundation of this mission resides in the minds and hearts of the Chinese people."

The principal means of successfully achieving that mission is through nationalism, democracy and social well-being, "and not the use of force," the communique said.

The communique also went a step closer toward an American commitment to defend the Nationalist-held offshore islands, although it did not make such a flat commitment.

The statement said that the United States and the Nationalist regime "recognized that under present conditions the defense of the Quemoys together with the Matsus is closely related to the defense of Taiwan (Formosa) and Penghu (the Pescadore Islands) in the Formosa Strait."

This was interpreted as a new warning that any Red attempt to take the offshore islands might provoke U. S. intervention.

Dulles left by KC135 jet tanker for Washington after he and Chiang drew up the communique in their fifth meeting since Tuesday.

The communique said the renewed Communist bombardment of the Quemoy group and the Red propaganda campaign to divide the United States and Nationalist China had instead drawn the two allies closer together.

The Chinese Communists and their Soviet backers "cannot possibly succeed" in trying to conquer Formosa, eliminate Nationalist China and expel the United States from the western Pacific, the communique declared.

Apparently the renewal of the Communist bombardment of Quemoy forestalled the anticipated American attempt to get Chiang to reduce the Quemoy garrison.

Nixon Vows To Broaden Rights Field

Says Administration Will Open Doors For All To Opportunities

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Nixon pledged the Eisenhower administration today to support new efforts to broaden the strife-marked field of civil rights.

Nixon, here to campaign for the New York GOP ticket, called in a statement for the election of Rep. Kenneth Keating to the Senate. He depicted this as a step toward destroying control of Congress' machinery by anti-civil-rights Democrats.

Striking out on his own in a field where President Eisenhower has proceeded cautiously, Nixon gave this outline of the "positive aims" of the national GOP administration:

"To open the full doors of opportunity to all and to assure good schooling, job opportunities and rising standards of living for all our citizens. We do not recognize first-class citizenship and second-class citizenship.

"We do not want rights and privileges for some and only burdens and discrimination for others."

Nixon gave no indication that he had consulted Eisenhower before issuing the statement. But his action was interpreted as another sign he is taking over political leadership in last-round efforts to turn the tide that seems rolling toward increased Democratic strength in Congress.

The vice president challenged Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic presidential nominee, to bring Governors Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, Marvin Griffin of Georgia and J. Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia into line to support the Supreme Court's decision for school integration.

The vice president said that while Northern Democrats only talk — and Southern party members dissent — the Republican administration acts on civil rights.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we have done more in six years of this administration than they have talked of doing in the 20 years that preceded it."

20,000 Forms To Be Issued

Recreation Survey Lists 91 Games, Crafts, Hobbies

Tennis anyone?

Or badminton, shuffleboard or wrestling?

Those sports are just 4 of the 91 games, crafts and hobbies listed on 20,000 questionnaires that will be sent into East Liverpool homes next week or handed out to service clubs to help plan a citywide recreation program for all ages.

The answers given on the big printed form will help Mayor Fred P. Lawrence's steering committee decide which of the activities should be included in the program it hopes to get under way in the spring of 1959.

About 16,500 of the questionnaires will be distributed through the school system. Every youngster will be given one of the forms for himself, along with another for each of his parents. That phase of the survey is scheduled to reach 5,500 school children and 11,000 parents.

The remaining 4,500 forms will be used to sample sentiment in the balance of the community on the recreation program. Questionnaires will be distributed to members of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs, women's groups and church organizations.

Distribution of the questionnaire was decided upon at a meeting Oct. 13 as the best way of finding out what competitive sports, crafts and other activities the community is most interested in.

The questionnaire was prepared by a committee comprised of Council President B. E. Warner, Frank

Council O.K.'s Traffic Code For Midland

Legislation Channels More Of Fines Into Borough's Treasury

Midland Council Wednesday night adopted a new traffic ordinance providing stiffer penalties and channeling more of the fines into the borough treasury rather than to the state.

It regulates parking, sets up no parking zones and changes speed limits. It is effective immediately.

Councilman Joseph Hibbard raised a question as to the changes from the old ordinance. Burgess Eli Corak explained that under the new ordinance the borough can apply penalties at the local level and keep money from fines which previously went to the state.

The state, he said, received the money at the expense of the borough which must use its police officers.

Traffic Code For Midland

Fines for the various offenses will range from $2 to $10 with a 5-day jail term for non-payment.

Burgess Corak told Council he expects a report sometime next week from Robert Zapio, Beaver County tax assessor, concerning the position of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. in the new tax assessment program.

Under the new program being set up in the county, machinery is not taxable. It would be a saving to the borough if Crucible would continue to pay part of the tax after January, thus sparing property owners additional taxes but the burgess said the information should be ready by the next Council meeting Nov. 12.

Geri Wirag, spokesman for a group of six members of the Hi-Spot Youth Center, requested permission to sell tags two days to raise funds for new drapes for its quarters in the Borough Building.

It was agreed the tags could be sold on Tuesday, Nov. 4 and Nov. 18.

A request of Mrs. William Spisak, Hi-Spot director, was reported by Councilman William Vinovich and turned over to R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, who will consult with her about lights being turned out in the center's quarters.

Council agreed to pay $121.87 for damages to a 3-inch portable pump borrowed from the Crucible Steel Co., which, when returned, would not pump water from the company's flooded basement on July 11.

Council accepted a contract from the Duquesne Light Co. for Christmas lighting at a cost of $243.64. Last year's contract was $238.64.

Rudy Presutti, tax collector, requested that Council exonerate $815.44 on the 1958 tax duplicate due to inability to collect those taxes because of persons moving away and for other reasons.

Steebner and Councilman Harvey Sponcer said he attended a salt and cinder spreader demonstration by the E. J. Fedigan Co., Inc., of Pittsburgh, yesterday afternoon. Council turned over to the street committee Sponcer's recommendation that the borough should study several types of spreaders before deciding on any certain one.

Steebner pointed out that about $650 was spent in overtime last winter for spreading cinders. A spreader, he said, would eliminate a second truck and four or five men. The model demonstrated costs $425.

Councilmen Lester Trainer, Joe D'Alesio and Raymond Presutti were absent.

City Man Nearly Escapes From State Institution

Authorities at Lima State Hospital are keeping close surveillance on William C. Powell, 26, of East Liverpool, who attempted to escape earlier this week.

Powell, who was committed to the hospital in July from the Ohio Penitentiary, where he was serving a 1-15-year term for burglary, tried to climb over a wall at the hospital Monday but the improvised pipe and wood ladder broke.

County authorities learned from the hospital that Powell, employed in a clothing room, had wound a cord around a doorknob inside the room. The end of the cord was passed under the door.

When he was ready to go, Powell pulled the cord from outside, turning the knob and opening the locked door. Inside the room he utilized to 12-foot sections of pipe, used for clothes racks, to pry apart bars on the window. He then lowered himself with a rope made of knotted clothing.

In the courtyard, Powell spliced the two sections of pipe with a piece of wood, then tried to climb the outer wall, but the wood section broke when he was halfway up, authorities said.

Discouraged, he retraced his steps to his room and went to bed. The attempt was discovered later by security officials.

Someone Had To Say It

President Eisenhower's new speech writer, Malcolm Charles Moos, is being given credit for the punch in the campaign speeches the President has been making.

This is an oversimplification of a significant turn of events in the 1958 campaign that has switched the White House leadership from a modifed version of Thomas E. Dewey's 1948 me-tooism onto a new track of strong opposition to the New Deal-Fair Deal line.

President Eisenhower has been brought to the realization that me-tooism was getting nowhere politically. The realities of the 1958 congressional campaigns convinced him. In congressional districts and states all over the country, the candidates of the Republican party were taking forthright stands against the policies of so-called "liberal" Democrats and their labor-union sponsors.

If the head of the party and the occupant of the White House was going to be any help to Republican candidates in their campaigns, he had to say in his speeches what they were saying in their appeals for support at the polls — that the Republican party stands for a middle course in politics.

It has nothing to gain, the candidates are saying, by trying to make it appear that it is competing with the opposition party for votes that lie to the left of center in the political spectrum. As Gov. Dewey learned in 1948, those votes belong to the political candidates who have made their vote-getting careers by working in that area of political sentiment. The votes cannot be weaned away by me-tooism.

THERE ARE some observers who believe there is no other area of political sentiment worth working in; who believe moderation and conservatism have become principles that no politician can afford to defend in this country, for fear of being defeated at the polls.

But this viewpoint rests on an assumption that American voters are locked into some particular status. It ignores the masses of independent voters. It is scornful of the fact that voters continuously change their positions in the political spectrum in a country where social and economic stratification is unknown.

Somebody had to speak in behalf of the Americans who do not believe that Old World doctrines of class warfare and reliance on socialism to bring victory to the producers have anything to offer that is worth accepting.

Someone had to put in a good word for the millions of U.S. citizens who thought Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman were on the wrong track in economics and who deplored the decisions that made Dwight Eisenhower seem sometimes to be traveling on a parallel track.

THE 1958 CAMPAIGN will be President Eisenhower's last chance to speak for his program as chief executive. He is justly proud of his record of accomplishment in national defense, statehood for Alaska, highway construction, revision of immigration laws and restoration of independence to agriculture.

These things were made possible by the support of congressional Democrats — many of whom are hoping as ardently as their counterparts among Republicans for a leadership that will keep the political left wing in the United States from exercising more influence than it deserves to have in a representative democracy.

A new presidential speech-writer can put some of these things into words. But first they had to be put into thought — and that has been the significant turn of events in 1958. Conservatism has found a spokesman.

Ohio Needs Noble For Highways

One of the best things about the O'Neill administration in Ohio has been its highway program.

Gov. C. William O'Neill would be the last one to claim full credit for its success. But he deserves credit for keeping it moving along as rapidly as possible with cost, adequacy of construction and safety to traffic of prime consideration.

The citizens of Ohio made available more than the normal amount of money for highway building because they recognized their state had fallen by the wayside in providing the means to move a rapidly increasing amount of traffic. The federal government, with its nationwide freeway program, has been a big additional help.

GOV. O'NEILL had the foresight to seize the opportunity to build new miles of road leading from somewhere to somewhere—instead of the old-fashioned program of building a few miles here and a few miles there ending in the middle of nowhere.

When he became governor in January 1957, Mr. O'Neill knew that highway building would be his No. 1 problem. He wanted to solve it the best way it could be solved. He did: Ohio has become the No. 1 state in the nation in building new roads.

To accomplish his goal, Gov. O'Neill sought the best highway brains he could find. Charles M. Noble, who had done an outstanding job in New Jersey, was recommended to him as the best in the country. The governor went after him.

MR. NOBLE has lived up to his reputation. He irritated some people when he revised the state's old "horse trading" method and offered one best price for each right of way. But he won the admiration of most Ohioans and saved the state considerable money.

He stuck to his guns, too, on highway design. He refused to accept anything less than the safest. Wherever the terrain permitted, he insisted on the gradual curves, shallower grades and wider bridges that will save their cost many times over in motorists' lives.

Drivers who have found they were able to keep moving easily on New Jersey's network of heavily traveled highways already were "sold" on Charles Noble. More and more drivers in Ohio are becoming "sold" on him, too, as more and more sections of new highway are being opened.

For their own convenience and safety, Ohioans should see that Charles Noble stays on the job. The way they can do it is by re-electing Bill O'Neill Nov. 4.

Out Of Prank Stage

Senseless smashing of windows and tossing of overripe vegetables to the point where it might result in injury to innocent bystanders is not Halloween trickery. It's beyond that.

The quicker this is understood by irresponsible young people the safer it will be for them and for home owners alike.

In the last few weeks district police and sheriff's deputies have received reports of stones and vegetables tossed at windows, with the occupants narrowly escaping injury on several occasions.

Law authorities are justified in taking the strictest measures against such vandalism and the penalties should not be eased on the basis of "youthful pranks." There is a clearcut line between the destruction of property and accepted Halloween pranks.

It would be wise for parents to sit down with youngsters now and point out where one ends and the other begins. It might save a lot of embarrassment later.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

New auto models are on display all over, with just enough changes to make you lose face if seen in a model nine months old. They come out in October these days, instead of midwinter, which gives you extra time to turn in the car you've hardly broken in. Never before have automobiles seemed so eye-filling.

It is hard to look at a 1959 car and not feel cheap in one you just bought. Orders are reported terrific, with Mr. and Mrs. Public saying, "I wasn't going to buy a 1959 model, but the oil in my 1958 car is low, and one tire needs air."

It's getting so a man in this year's car, driving to a display of new models, hides his car blocks from salesroom so he won't be identified as old-fashioned.

Trend is for the imposing de luxe chariot with built-in opulence and air-conditioned swankiness. Public reaction indicates no decline in the yen to travel like Oriental maharajah, even if bound only for drugstore for a 10-cent stogie.

Some models have swivel seats so owner can get out of auto easily. But the need is for similar seats to get in and out of instalments faster.

The auto has become the backbone of American pursuit of life, liberty and pursuit of traffic jams. A man used to keep an auto until it wore out. Now he keeps it until the ashtray is filled. We have the only economy in the world that enables a fellow to turn in a slightly soiled car for one that has no dust on it. People are style-conscious.

They seldom look under the hood and know where the engine is located only when they see a TV commercial. They live in fear a neighbor will show up in a car with the rear headlights on a smarter frame.

The recession MUST be over. All those people inspecting the 1959 cars can't be from the waxworks.

Talullah Bankhead at Harry Truman'd Democratic dinner in Washington was vitriolic about Republicans. Perhaps she blames them for "Crazy October," the play in which she is closing.

Asked why golf appeals to him, Ike told press conference, "There are three things I like—fishing, hunting and golfing, all for the same reason. They give me exercise, and take me out in the open fields. They induce me to take two or three hours where I can think of the birds, the ball and the wily trout." Like all golfers, Ike is kidding himself. The golf addict is an incurable fanatic. With the birds, bees and trout he can remain a well-balanced normal human being. The golf ball is your enemy. You never trust it. You know it will cross you up, making you look foolish and leaving you in despair. With trout you don't keep score every few yards or squawk about your handicap. You never have to play a fish out of a sandtrap.

Teamsters Mix Charity, Politics

By Victor Riesel

Seldom can it be written that charity fund raisers look a gift horse in the mouth even if it be driven by a Teamster bearing heavy cash donations. Apparently the United Cerebral Palsy Committee of New York has misread the Apostle Peter and revised the Bible to read that charity covers the multitude of sinners.

Victor Riesel

For last Thursday night a crippled child sat through a Cerebral Palsy fund-raising banquet jointly sponsored by the outfit and the Teamsters. The lad finally got his chance to thank the gay overflow crowd at the Hotel Commodore—but not until the same Teamsters' hand, after turning over $50,000 to the charity, swung a one-two slap at the federal courts, the U.S. Senates racket - busting committee, the monitors over the union, and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The lad merely took his cue from his elders on the Cerebral Palsy Committee, who sat quietly there on the dais right through it all.

THE AROMA of unsweetened charity and a densely - packed crowd must have confused the United Cerebral Palsy officials. They forgot that the national AFL-CIO, at George Meany's direction, plugs their charity over the AFL-CIO's coast-to-coast radio broadcasts which have 300 outlets across the land.

But it should at least be reported that at this testimonial dinner to James Hoffa's close friend, New York Teamster chief Johnny O'Rourke, the New York Teemo locals raised 50 times as much for Cerebral Palsy in one night as the Teamsters' national headquarters has given to all charities in six months.

The Teamo national headquarters' financial statement reveals that in the six months period ending June 30, 1958, they donated "$1,831.72 . . . to public causes." But then charity does begain at home to these boys. The same financial statement lists the total of legal fees as $198,706.58 and public relations costs as $29,282.01 in that same six-month period.

WHILE THE United Cerebral Palsy people fidgeted on the dais, Jim Hoffa and a series of national Teamster leaders spoke of their own sufferings, too. This came as a surprise to many.

In all the weeks that the testimonial - fund raising dinner had been publicized in subway cards and posters, not a single critic of the Teamsters had spoken out against the venture. There was a firm belief that there would be no trespassing the bounds of charity —and that this would be merely a fund-raising dinner for the sole purpose of helping afflicted kids.

There was this tacit understanding, though it was known that the hall would be packed with veterans of the McClellan wars. And packed in with them, spilling out of the upper and lower sections of the main ballroom of the hotel into an auxiliary ballroom, were many of the local leaders of the big town's AFL-CIO organizations from which the Teamsters had been expelled.

These AFL-CIO leaders who turned out for the testimonial to Johnny O'Rourke represented locals from at least 19 international unions. They ranged from spokesmen for the Construction Trades Unions to officials of the Hotel and Restaurant Trades, to Theatrical and Stage Hands Union leaders to Operating Engineers chiefs. They sat and gaily drank and broke bread with leaders of outfits expelled from the AFL - CIO — such as the Bakers, the Longshoremen and, of course, the Teamsters.

THEY SAT RIGHT through the long attacks on their national leaders, George Meany. Nor were these merely philosophical phrases hurled at the AFL-CIO. Meany was attacked personally. The insults were as high as the whisky and soda bottles. But no one budged.

Many of the union officials who came were of the old line. Their old buddy was being honored by a committee of his peers — and followers. They could have donated their money directly to the charity. Yet they came and sat and testimonialized while their own leader, George Meany, was being villified in the name of charity.

It is ironic that in a few days, in the same hotel, some of the men who heard Meany attacked will be sitting with him, planning strategy against the Teamsters. These are the same leaders who complain constantly that the press, the public and the Congress is not carefully distinguishing between the good and the bad unions. How can you tell without a scorecard?

GOP Vs. COPE

By Raymond Moley

There seems to be some eyebrow-raising about the fact that many Republican candidates in the North and Democrats in the South have made an issue of the AFL-CIO's COPE or, if you will, of Reutherism in this campaign.

Mostly, however, the critics are either favorable to the aims and policies of COPE or are innocents who never ran for public office or never had an important part in the realities of politics.

The legitimacy of this as an issue depends upon three circumstances: Is it true that the political arms of the AFL-CIO do actively and exclusively support the Democratic Party in sections of the North and the leftist faction of the Democratic Party in the South?

If so, is this influence important, even dominant, in the patry or faction? Finally, there is the practical matter of public interest. Is it a good thing in a political campaign to hit hard at the differences between candidates?

The answer to all three of those questions should be "yes."

SPEAKING NOW of the Republican Party in the North and West, it is true that the AFL-CIO COPE limits its opposition almost exclusively to Republicans. In a few cases Republican senators or congressmen receive its endorsement. But in such isolated cases the record of these members shows a strict obedience to the measures proposed or supported by the AFL-CIO.

The voting records of Aiken of Vermont, Case of New Jersey, and Javits of New York as published by COPE are as regular as the COPE line as those of Kennedy, Douglas or Morse on the Democratic side.

COPE, as well as the poltical newspapers published by AFL-CIO and local unions, has been a constant and spirited critic of the Republican Party, the Eisenhower Administration, and the Republican leadership in Congress. That is a matter of record for all to read.

It is also true that spokesmen for the AFL-CIO deny their own influence. But that is what they say publicly. Privately they are arrogant and boastful.

In 1952 it was the stalwart Democrat Alben Barkley who tearfully said at the Democratic convention that a little group of union leaders, 16 in number, vetoed his presidential aspirations.

James F. Byrnes in his remarkable autobiography, "All in One Lifetime," now lays bare the fact that Roosevelt's directive: "Clear it with Sidney (Hillman)" denied him the vice presidency and, as Providence decreed, the presidency in 1944.

It also is true that the sworn accounting of one union in one state in 1954 indicates that it spent close to three million dollars on the "political education" that elected a senator and a number of congressmen. See also the figures in the report of the Senate Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections on the 1956 campaign—a report dominated by Democratic members.

A SPECIFIC example comes to light at the moment from the 10th Congressional District of Virginia, which includes Arlington and Fairfax Counties. The Republican congressmen from that district by members of the Fairfax Board of Supervisors, representatives of COPE demanded services of the board which were not allowed by its stated policies, not available to other citizens, and would have been a gross use of public services for one candidate. This demand was refused, and Mr. Broyhill made the facts public.

Some of those who decry the influence of COPE in the states and districts should endure what Republican candidates must meet from the Democratic Party's powerful auxiliary.

In one state employes of a union group disguised themselves and went from house to house spreading untrue and damaging stories about a candidate they opposed. In California, where I spent several days earlier this month, it is true that as long as a year ago there were many union political workers already at work to prepare for the election this year.

What, it may be asked, is a party expected to do? Ignore its most powerful opposition or openly face the issue?

Ladder Of Life

By Thomas R. Henry

WASHINGTON

The way now seems open to actual laboratory synthesis of living things.

This prospect appears from recent revolutionary chemical developments in breaking down the barriers between organic and inorganic matter.

They have been described by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, director of the virus laboratory of the University of California, in a report just issued by the Smithsonian Institution.

The remaining essential step, he says, seems to be the synthesis of one of the highly complex nucleic acids which forms an essential component of genes, the units of heredity. This, he believes, may be close at hand.

Dr. Stanley is the chemist who, more than 20 years ago, demonstrated the true nature of filterable viruses, among which are agents of some of the most devastating diseases.

The ladder of life, as pictured in his report, is essentially as follows:

Nucleic acids, major constituents of the genes;

Viruses which incorporate genes and which, under appropriate conditions, not only can multiply but which can mutate into new forms;

Single-celled living things such as bacteria and protozoa;

Multi-celled organisms constituting all higher forms of life.

Progress in breaking down the barriers seems to have culminated very recently, Dr. Stanley says, in a demonstration by Dr. H. Fraenkel-Conrat at the University of California, that one of the nucleic acids may have all the properties of a gene. Proteins, the building stones of life, already have been produced from nonliving materials.

The step still remaining, Dr. Stanley says, is the synthesis of the single heredity - transmitting acid.

Then man will actually have created life itself.

Case For Conservatism

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower Hits At Radicalism

President Eisenhower made the best political speech of his career at Los Angeles. It was a great speech because for the first time he outlined clearly the difference between the radicals and the conservatives in America today.

David Lawrence

If Mr. Eisenhower could have stressed this theme earlier in his administration, it would have prevented much of the factionalism that has weakened his party. But the significant thing is that the President has definitely accepted the path of sound economics and sound fiscal policy as well as firmness in international affairs as basic Republicanism.

He also has supplemented what Vice President Nixon has been saying—that peace cannot be assured by any policies of surrender and that the way to deal with Communism is to stand up to it, instead of retreating under its pressures.

"Let's consider a significant fact," said the President. "The Democrat party is not one—but two—political parties with the same name. They unite only once every two years—to wage political campaigns.

"At one extreme is a wing whose campaigns were largely settled in Southern primaries held weeks ago. At the other extreme is the stronger wing, dominated by political radicals. The campaigns of this wing are still going on.

"These self-styled liberals are the ones who really challenge sane, sound, forward-looking government in the United States. It is against the spread of their radical influence that we are waging this campaign."

THE PRESIDENT did not touch on the issue of compulsory unionization, but he did blast away at labor-union racketeering and blamed the Democrats for failing to put through strong enough legislation to cope with corruption in unions. He said:

"My friends—to protect American workers and businessmen—to conserve strong, clean trade-unions—the nation needs a Congress determined to settle this issue. That means America needs a Republican Congress."

The President minced no words in inveighing against federal control and socialization of industry. He said the radical Democrats are the ones who try to vest more and more authority in the federal government and "who turn to federal power even where private power can do the job—to governmental housing where private housing can meet the need—to federal domination of agriculture rather than trusting to the initiative and freedom of the farmer to federal development of nuclear power where private development will best serve the interests of the United States."

That's a complete platform of conservatism almost in itself and the President didn't pull any political punches as he added:

"As a result, the opposition record is one of ever higher taxes, of dollars worth 50 cents, of sky-high prices, of an economy harassed into producing fewer jobs, chronic unemployment, labor strife and fear of the future."

AS MR. EISENHOWER sketched his conception of the two rival wings in the Democratic party, he concluded with this statement: "One is spendthrift — the other conservative. In short, our opposition can offer America only deadlocked government — government that wages war on itself."

This mention of "deadlocked government" is somewhat belated. There has been no question about the political opposition which the President has encountered since 1954 from a Congress controlled by the Democratic party. He, therefore, declared:

"This campaign, then, gives us a critical choice. Either we choose left-wing government or sensible, forward - looking government — spendthrift government or responsible government — overpowering federal government or government kept close to home — frustrated, stymied government or efficient government able to keep its promise to America."

The President obviously is endeavoring to woo conservative Republicans back to the fold. His speech is the kind they like to hear.

Some will remain skeptical, wondering if the precepts will be fulfilled in future policies. The chances are they will be.

It is apparent that Mr. Eisenhower is himself somewhat disillusioned by "modern Republicanism," if by this is meant an imitation of the New Deal and the Fair Deal in their spending habits that disregard the cost to the taxpayer.

The President has a good chance to reunite the factions in his party in the next two years. Irrespective of the outcome of the present congressional campaign, Mr. Eisenhower has blazed the trail for the 1960 contest.

He has cast his die on the side of truly liberal and progressive doctrine, which means sound conservatism as opposed to radicalism and socialism.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Except for hair, teeth, vim, vitality and expectations, I am as good a man as I ever was — a thought that frequently comes to the mind of all men who have entered the years of "maturity."

John Foster Dulles undoubtedly has noted a resemblance that has occurred by this time to millions of his countrymen. He is the modern aeronautical counterpart of Herman Melville's famed Capt. Ahab, who also had an obsession about something that must be destroyed.

It is one of the passing oddities of politics that when Harry Truman does it he is a colorful old man but when Richard Nixon does it he is unscrupulous. Two-fisted campaigning, that is.

I can recall football games that were stopped by the referee long enough to call the two captains together to hear a warning that the next player who committed a personal foul would be thrown out of the game. This would stop the grid-iron mayhem being complained about by Ohio State's coach, Woody Hayes.

It continues to be my personal opinion that public opinion is much more mature about the conduct of politicians during campaigns than the politicians are willing to admit and that this accounts for the apathy of voters, which is really disgust about campaign tactics offensive to public taste.

If I were a publisher, I'd make a collection of newspaper photographs and descriptions of autumn, representing some of the finest artistic and literary efforts of hundreds of newspaper people who rarely have such a golden opportunity to show what they can do.

One of the handiest things I ever learned was to lick the envelope, instead of the stamp, to avoid that gluey after-taste.

The plural of "Mr." is "Messrs.," but there is no plural for "Mrs." The word "Mesdames," sometimes used in error, is the plural of "Madame," which does not mean the same thing as "Mrs." —not in this part of the country.

I doubt if anyone can read what Harold Barnes, a well known judge in boxing circles, says about "legalized murder" in the current Saturday Evepost without murmuring, "Amen." He thinks boxing matches should be outlawed without further ado.

Every group of school kids waiting for a morning school bus looks like a picture for a magazine cover, if you happen to think children's faces are the pleasantest sight on earth.

Geauga Resident Seeks Seat On Court Of Appeals

Judge Ford Faces Busy Schedule In Bid For Election

By GLENN WAIGHT

CHARDON, Ohio — A balding young man bounced up the wrought iron stairs of the Geauga County Courthouse, his black judicial robe trailing from under his arm.

Robert B. Ford, probate judge, was in a quiet hurry—to complete his regular duties, to finish a Juvenile Court case over which he presided, then to get to Ashtabula where he is on extra assignment, and to keep pushing his campaign to be elected to the 7th District Court of Appeals.

At 37, one of the youngest jurists in Ohio, Judge Ford aspires to be the first member of the Appellate Court from the rolling, maple-studded hills of Geauga County. And he and a lot of others at Chardon, the county seat, think he has a good chance.

In fact, most of the county leaders seem less concerned about the November election — in which Judge Ford faces John Donahue of Youngstown — than they are about who will replace the sincere, hard-working resident of nearby Burton who has left quite a record in the 89-year-old courthouse.

SINCE BEING appointed to the probate bench in 1953 by Gov. Frank J. Lausche to fill an unexpired term, Judge Ford has three notable accomplishments.

He has helped prepare a state law permitting probate judges to serve in the absence of Common Pleas judges; he has reorganized the county record system, making Geauga County the first in the state to have a current microfilm program, and has cracked down on slovenly dress and conduct at juvenile hearings.

Judge Ford, who is 6 feet and weighs 195 pounds ("20 pounds too much—I can't look at food without gaining") turned to law under the influence of family tradition.

He is a great-grandson of Seabury Ford, governor of Ohio in 1849-51, and a great grandnephew of Peter Hitchcock, famed member of the Ohio Supreme Court.

—:—

HE WAS born Oct. 4, 1921, at Zanesville, but now resides at Burton — 10 miles south of Chardon — where his great-great grandfather, John Ford, moved to the Western Reserve from Connecticut in 1804 and served as justice of the peace and director of the first bank established at Warren.

"In the past 150 years, men of the family have been either lawyers or businessmen," Judge Ford explains. His father, Ralph Ford, 73, stills holds a clerical post at Cleveland.

The family moved from Zanesville in 1922 to Erie, where Bob Ford attended school, being graduated from Strong Vincent High School in 1933. He was on the swimming team at high school which won state recognition in rugged water polo competition.

His grades in high school were "good to average—I got A's in Latin, chiefly because my father was a great Latin reader." The family moved to Burton in 1938 and young Ford enrolled at Ohio State University, majoring in political science and taking history as a minor.

He began aiming for a law degree during his sophomore year, and buckled down to work. He held two jobs — one with a radio research organization and another with the university news bureau which reported student activities to hometown newspapers. He also waited on tables to supplement his income.

ON THE campus, he met Alice Ann Jones of Steubenville, who was studying to be a teacher. A year after he had received his bachelor's degree, he was married to the lovely Miss Jones and commissioned to the U. S. Army.

He had joined the ROTC at Ohio State, and, with the demand for manpower in 1942, he was hurriedly made a second lieutenant in the field artillery and transported to Ft. Bragg, N. C., within three days after his graduation—not even being given time to visit home.

In the service for almost five years, he served in Europe for 18 months with the 153rd Field Artillery. He saw combat in France, Belgium and Germany, his five battle stars representing such action as the snow-driven "Bulge" and the deadly Hurtgen Forest. He was discharged a major in 1946, having received the Bronze Star.

In 1947, he enrolled at Western Reserve University to study law. In two years he was awarded his degree and admitted to the bar. His wife, who had earned a degree in education, had taught at Tiltonsville and later at Burton.

He began a private practice at Burton and was employed by the Cuyahoga Title & Trust Co. He also served a term on Burton's Council and a term as village solicitor.

—:—

IN 1953, Probate Judge Harold Richmond was named Common Pleas judge when that post became vacant and the probate bench was offered to Mr. Ford. He turned it down once, uncertain about giving up his practice, but others pressured him, and he went down to Columbus to talk with the governor, who had heard about the young attorney's ability. In February, the appointment was made, and Judge Ford donned the robe.

Once he began his duties, he held no qualms about his new career, and in 1954 successfully ran for the full six-year term.

Since Geauga County had only one Common Pleas judge, the activities of that court were suspended when Judge Richmond was away on assignment, on vacation or ill.

Wearing His Judicial Robes

Realizing other smaller counties were similarly inconvenienced, Judge Ford began to promote legislation enabling probate judges to serve on the Common Pleas bench, since they had the same educational background, salary and general ability.

With B. A. Broughton, Ford helped work out a bill which was passed by the General Assembly and has resulted in expediting the operation of courts in Geauga and other smaller Ohio counties.

—:—

JUDGE FORD also pushed the revamping of the county records system, obtaining a change in a ruling by the attorney general's office along with a special approval of the state auditor before the microfilming program was put into operation.

The most publicized achievement of the young jurist has been his handling of juvenile cases, especially his banning blue jeans and black leather jackets at hearings.

Judge Ford, who has committed a high school student to a penal institution for attacking a teacher, ordered that no "costumes of defiance" would be worn in delinquency hearings. He refuses to hear cases until the young people are properly attired and in good behavior. He warns parents they face the risk of a contempt charge should a hearing be postponed twice because of improper dress or conduct, and their child may be taken from them.

The judge demands children and parents be on time, clothing be clean, hair well-groomed and all behave in a respectful manner. Ruled out are levi-type trousers, decorated black leather jackets, engineers boots and 6-inch or 8-inch trouser cuffs. Girls must wear dresses or skirts, no slacks. Judge Ford says the rules are not designed to enforce conformity of dress.

He feels that too many "otherwise decent children adopt such costumes of defiance because they are afraid or lack parental guidance." He says "the court will not tolerate a mode of dress established by the least desirable element of the juvenile population."

The judge says he is no expert on juvenile delinquency, and adds, "There is no magic solution, because it is a complex problem and the solution must necessarily be complex."

—:—

THE BROKEN home cannot always be the scapegoat, he says. "Each case stands by itself, since there are thousands of contributing problems and an equal number of answers." The common source of trouble is "the breach of the Golden Rule," he declares. "If parents and children would live by the Golden Rule, the battle against delinquency would be won."

Judge Ford's juvenile policies have not gone unnoticed. Some have called his code too strict, but as a Burton businessman said, "A lot of people think he hasn't gone far enough with some of these young people."

A New Jersey assistant superintendent of schools wrote the judge, "You have taken a firmly judicious and highly appropriate stand." A California newspaper commented editorially, "There is food for thought for a number of San Bernardino County judges in this example set for the judicial fraternity by the Ohio court."

Judge Ford and his wife and two sons, Bob, 13, and Tom, 8, live in an apartment over a two-car garage next to the rambling frame home of his parents on the east edge of Burton, a quiet village whose square often rings with the clopping of horses and wagons of Amish farmers.

—:—

JUDGE FORD had the stable of the old home — built in 1870 — converted into the apartment-garage after he returned to the village from service. His wife's activities are limited by a heart condition, and the judge's spare time is chiefly spent at home.

Son Tom is a third-grade pupil at Burton, while Bob is in ninth grade at Western Reserve Academy—"on a scholarship, not by virtue of wealth" smiles the jurist whose salary is $7,200.

The judge's day begins about 6:45. He gets to the Courthouse about 8:15 to clear away paperwork before hearings get under way. Probate duties concerned with wills and estates give way to juvenile problems on Thursdays.

Besides filling in on the Common Pleas bench when needed, he also is placed on assignment in Ashtabula County Probate Court, where he has been working three and four days a week this fall.

When not tackling briefs and references at home, the judge reads newspapers, a news magazine and tries to finish a novel about twice a month. In the summer he swims with his sons and occasionally gets in a game of tennis at a nearby public court.

He attends the Congregational Church, and is a member of the Masonic Lodge. He had been in Boy Scout work, serving on the Northeast Ohio Council. He has been reducing some of his activities, however, to meet increased responsibilities of home and the demanding court post.

Why is he seeking the appellate seat? "It is an advancement, a step up. I like being a judge, and I like judicial work. I think I am competent and can do a good job," he replies frankly.

THE JUDGE, who never had a case before the Appeals Court as a lawyer, points out, "My experience as a judge, not only in my home county but in others, is a definite asset. Of course, legal training and practice of law are statuatory requirements, but judicial skills, techniques, knowledge and temperament are acquired, improved and perfected by being a judge. With this experience, performance is a matter proved in the record; without it, there can be only promises."

Apparently hesitant about citing his chief attributes for holding the appellate post, the judge continued, "I have an open mind, the physical stamina and sufficient background and training for the position." He says his comparative youth is no handicap in the contest for such a high court job. His opponent is 47. Judge Ford says, "I'm ready to face the difficult task, and plan to work and study and work."

More than one million people reside in the 13-county court district which includes Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Lake, Mahoning, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Geauga, Portage, Harrison, Belmont, Noble and Monroe counties.

Judge Ford has been given strong support in his home county where the bar association has passed a resolution stating, "He has demonstrated a combination of physical and mental vigor with a judicial temperament that is indeed well-suited to the growing and exacting demands of the 7th District Court of Appeals."

—:—

ELSEWHERE IN the district he is being supported by many lawyers and other judges, especially those jurists on higher courts. Since the May Republican primary, the judge has attended meetings or consulted with members of bar groups in 11 counties, been at 8 county fairs and numerous meetings, traveling 4,000 miles in his campaign, besides handling his regular and extra duties.

The Judge And His Family

Mr. Ford is not after the job simply to give northeastern Ohio a member of the court, which now includes Judge Lynn Griffith of Warren and Judge Elmer Phillips of Youngstown.

His earnest attitude in the campaign somehow imparts the feeling that he wants to serve because he has been a good judge and will be a good judge, with all the hard work and judicial deliberation the post requires.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove soiled spots from wallpaper?

A. This can often be done by using starch. Sprinkle liberally on a damp cloth and apply to the paper, using a circular motion. If there are some particularly bad spots, go over them several times.

Q. How can I tint plain, white, canvas pumps?

A. They can be tinted any desired color by using a small package of good dye, and applying with a brush.

Q. How can I keep parsley fresh for several days?

A. Place the sprigs of parsley in a jar with screw top, keep in the refrigerator, and it will keep nice and fresh for many days.

Driver Jailed In City Mishap

2 Men Suffer Injury In Crash In East End

A 40-year-old Beaver County man was charged with driving while intoxicated as the aftermath of a two-car crash Wednesday night at 10:46 in East End in which two men were injured.

Eric S. Weaver of Beaver Falls pleaded not guilty to the charge at arraignment this morning before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw. His bond was set at $500 pending a hearing Friday at 9 a. m.

Police said Weaver's 1950 two-door sedan collided at Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St. with a 1953 sedan operated by Homer Timmons, 58, of 211 Walnut St.

A passenger in Weaver's car, Ford Patterson, 45, also of Beaver Falls, is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with contusions and abrasions of the face and leg and laceration of the head. Timmons was released after treatment for multiple lacerations and contusions of the head, face and left leg.

Weaver told police he did not see the right-angle turn in the street. Timmons said his car was struck head-on.

Another crash at 11 p. m. Wednesday caused extensive damage to the guard rails on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," police said. The car involved in the crash was towed to a local garage, but the driver was not located. Police said the car carried a license issued to a man residing at Industry R. D. 1.

Lake Erie College for Women in Painesville, Ohio, is famed for its "Winter Term Abroad for Juniors," whereby the entire Junior class spends 12 weeks at one of the college's eight study centers in Europe.

Survey

C. Dawson, Rob Niblock and Miss Frances Jones, librarian.

It lists 25 competitive sports ranging from archery to wrestling, 8 outdoor summer activities from boating to rifle clubs, 5 winter programs including skiing and ice hockey, 21 crafts encompassing everything from bead work to sculpture, 7 types of dancing, 10 playground activities and 11 "special activities" that include card games, high fidelity music and amateur radio.

The person who completes the questionnaire will be asked to indicate his exact age, if he is under 21. Others will show their ages by brackets: 21-30, 30-40 and over 40, so the steering committee can plan activities for all age groups.

Questionnaires distributed via the schools will be returned to the committee the same way. Other individuals will return the forms to the person from whom they were obtained or leave them at the Carnegie Public Library, the committee explained.

The questionnaire carries an explanation of the reason for the survey. It says:

"The city administration and Council are interested in organizing a recreation program for persons of all age groups in the East Liverpool area and as a preliminary step we are anxious to find what activities are of greatest interest to you.

"By checking the activities in which you would participate actively, you can provide us with valuable information for the development of the proposed program so that it will best meet the needs of all. Please add any activities which you might think of that have not been included in the listing."

Competitive sports listed on the form are: Archery, badminton, baseball, basketball, billiards, bowling, boxing, croquet, diving, deck tennis, football, golf, handball, horseshoes, lawn bowling, ping pong, shuffleboard, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track and field events, tumbling, volleyball and wrestling.

The proposed crafts are: Bead work, clay modeling, crocheting, drawing, interior decorating, jewelry making, knitting, leather work, metal working, model building, painting, photography, plastic crafts, rug making, sculpture, sewing, clothes designing, furniture refinishing, weaving, woodworking and cooking and baking.

The year round program, including the services of a full time director and his staff, will be financed out of the city's added revenue from income tax.

Safety

and regularly and he must accept the responsibility for seeing that the committee's decisions are carried out by the respective department heads," the report said. The committee's main task would be to develop a citywide traffic program.

The report presented yesterday was based primarily on the city's safety record last year, including deaths and injuries, compilation of accident records, traffic engineering, police traffic supervision, court activities and safety education in schools and for the general public.

East Liverpool was rated against 442 other U. S. cities in the same approximate population bracket. Of a possible score of 100 per cent, East Liverpool was given 27 per cent, based on the averages of the top cities.

In connection with police accident records, the report noted that forms are filed according to the spot where the crash occurred— a practice recommended by the Safety Council. However, it recommended that the police department should keep a cross-file of names of drivers involved in accidents so that frequent offenders could be dealt with more severely in court. It also suggested maintaining a map showing the location of each accident—a guide in deciding upon enforcement and control steps.

Discussing traffic engineering, the report said more of the city's traffic signals should be synchronized so that vehicles can move uninterrupted from one intersection to another. It also suggested more widespread use of painted crosswalks and increase in street lighting. More off-street parking space also is needed, the report said.

The report said all "rookie" policemen should receive at least 50 hours' training in traffic work and veterans should be given refresher courses every two years.

The group at the meeting in the Council Chamber included: Mayor Fred P. Lawrence, Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti, Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi, Fire Chief Charles Bryan, School Supt. R. W. Betts, George Hargraves, high school principal, Charles Shriver, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw, Robert Campbell, manager of the East Liverpool office of the Columbiana County Motor Club, and members of the safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Alvin Arner, chairman.

Many New Features Will Be Offered In The 1959 Imperial

The new Imperial will go on display Friday at Mackall Motors, Inc., 660 Walnut St.

The engineers have this to say: "Be prepared for a clean break with the past when you inspect Imperial for 1959. For in all of this fine car's fresh loveliness, there isn't a trace of ponderous bulk or excessive chrome contortion that weighs so heavily on tradition-bound cars.

"Imperial craftsmen have achieved a new massive look in grille-work and bumper design without losing the feel of simple elegance. Notice the graceful new sweep molding, the regal canopy effect of new Silvercrest roof, the new medallion that unmistakably identifies Imperial's famed Flight-Sweep deck lid.

"Inside this motorcar, you marvel at the precise fit of coach work and the jeweled finish of every appointment. And leathers and fabrics offer a striking, yet tasteful departure from the commonplace.

"It's difficult to believe that there could be any improvement in Imperial's famous torsion bar suspension. But our engineers have improved it. They've perfected a new optional air suspension which adds a remarkable new dimension to your riding ease."

Aside from the comfort features of torsion bar suspension—no sway or swerve on turns, no rear-end dip when you accelerate, no dive on stops — you enjoy a level "platform" ride in every driving situation.

On sharpest curves, on roughest roads, you ride perfectly level. And even when you're carrying a capacity crew of passengers, or a heavy load of luggage and equipment in your trunk, your car never has a "squatting" appearance. Ground clearance for frame and rear bumper remains constant. The reason is compressed air at the rear axle acts as a spring—automatically keeping your car level regardless of load.

Take a moment to look under the hood of a 1959 Imperial. You'll be impressed with the remarkable compactness of the new 350 horsepower engine.

Imperial engineers have reduced engine weight, and at the same time have increased power. Imperial's new 413-cubic-inch power plant is actually 101 pounds lighter than its predecessor and 65 pounds lighter than some engines in other fine cars. But light as it is, the new engine actually delivers more torque per pound than any engine in the industry.

You get more torque, more pulling power with fewer engine revolutions. Your engine is smoother, quieter, because it never need race or strain for power. And you get better engine performance at ordinary driving speeds. When this engine teams with Imperial's famous Torque-Flite transmission, you're never conscious of changing gears, just one unbroken sweep of motion.

Man Slays Wife, Wounds Daughter And Kills Self

SPERRY, Okla. (AP)—A farmer shot and killed his wife, critically wounded his small daughter, and took his own life just outside the Sperry Football Field Wednesday night. The woman and her three children were watching a high school game from a station wagon.

The dead: Mrs. Imogene Tracy, 32, and her estranged husband, William Anthony Tracy Jr., 35, who only recently had undergone a mental hearing. In a critical condition at Hillcrest Medical Center in Tulsa is the couple's daughter, Lynn Tracy, 3, with a bullet wound in her lung.

The child underwent emergency surgery early today.

The couple's other two children, Roger, 6, and Billy, 8, watched from the back seat of the station wagon as their father opened fire. They were not harmed.

Mrs. Tracy died within minutes from two bullet wounds, one in her chest and the other in her left side. One of the shots also struck the child.

Tulsa County Dep. Sheriff Louis Powell quoted witnesses as saying Tracy then turned the rifle on himself, sending a bullet through his chest.

Lausche, DiSalle Swing Potent Political Punches

By ART PARKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — The team of Michael V. DiSalle and Frank J. Lausche swung a politically potent one-two punch in populous southwestern Ohio Wednesday night.

Sen. Lausche, whose vote-getting magic won him a record five terms in the governor's office, was bolstering DiSalle's stretch drive for the governorship.

Lausche started out by addressing some 800 Democrats at the Jackson Day dinner in Middletown. He told the enthusiastic crowd:

"Since I am not a candidate this year, I can look upon the campaign with a greater objectivity than when I came begging for help . . . I believe Michael DiSalle should be—and I believe he will be—the next governor of Ohio.

"He will be the master of his own thinking . . . When a public official determines that a course of action is right, no expediency or remonstrance of special interests should change him."

While Lausche did not elaborate, he apparently referred to several instances in which DiSalle's Republican opponent, Gov. C. William O'Neill, publicly changed his mind on earlier decisions.

After the Middletown appearance, the two leaders of Ohio's Democrats came to Cincinnati for a late evening appearance on a television hookup.

Lausche reiterated his support of DiSalle and DiSalle, in turn, continued his relentless attacks upon the O'Neill record.

In one television appearance, DiSalle asserted he has refused to accept any contributions this year from any labor group.

At Middletown, DiSalle, who says he views his chance in the Nov. 4 election with cautious optimism, swung hard at O'Neill's campaign claims at progress in the mental health field.

"What became," he asked, "of our 'brains before bricks' program the General Assembly approved in 1955 to cure, rather than simply take custody of, the mentally ill? Where are the mental health experts our 10-million-dollar a year training program was supposed to produce?"

O'Neill is campaigning on his record of new mental institution construction, DiSalle declared, while his administration allows the standards of patient care to slip backward.

He asserted what he called the pretense of a state treasury surplus is being maintained at the expense of the patients. Many patients live in filth and without many of the bare necessities in order to hold the line on a state spending freeze ordered by the governor, DiSalle added.

"I have no objection to economy, but there are other and better places to apply it," the Democratic nominee said. "For instance, the state payroll in the last two years is 95 million dollars higher than in the last term of former Gov. Lausche.

"I will do whatever it takes to do a humanitarian job for these people, higher salaries for institution employes, if necessary, and probably an in-training program for technicians. We must get on with the job of producing some of our own experts in the field."

Among other mental institution conditions he said exist were these:

Lack of both surgeons and psychiatrists at Apple Creek State Hospital; a laboratory there with no one to use it; a radiology setup at Massillon State Hospital with no radiologist.

Laborers Freed From Cavein At Weirton Project

WEIRTON — Two laborers caught in a cavein at a sewer construction project were freed Wednesday by fellow laborers who scratched frantically at dirt and mud with bare hands in a 40-minute operation.

Donald W. Booher, 30, of Burgettstown first was buried up to his shoulders and then up to his chin by a second slide before other workmen managed to dig him free from behind wooden braces set up to hold back the earth.

Edward Shore of Avella was trapped to his waist by sliding dirt and mud at a location of lead sewers for a new disposal plant for the city of Weirton.

Booher was sent home from Weirton General Hospital after first aid treatment. Shore did not even require first aid.

It was believed that heavy traffic on U. S. 22, which had been detoured to that route because of an earth slide on W. Va. 2, might have loosened the earth of the sewer excavation.

Booher had been dug free to his waist when the second slide fell in on him.

Lisbon Reaches 62% Of Welfare Fund Goal

Young Declares Bricker Opposed Farm Aid Bills

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Stephen B. Young, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, said here Wednesday night his Republican opponent, Sen. John W. Bricker, has consistently opposed measures that would benefit Ohio farmers.

"My Republican opponent has consistently voted against the interests of the farmer," Young told an Allen County rally. "He has always voted against Democratic attempts to improve soil conservation. He votes against rural electrification administration programs. Hs support of a flexible price support program, in view of the tremendous problems that face the American farmer, is once again consistent with his dismal record."

Speaker Raps Work Law

City Group Told Not 'Corruption Cure'

There is nothing in the "right to-work" measure on the Ohio ballot Nov. 4 that will cure "corruption" that has been charged to the leadership of some unions, a Youngstown labor official told a crowd Wednesday night at a meeting in Westgate School auditorium.

The speaker was Frank Trainor, executive secretary of the United Organized Labor of Mahoning County. He spoke on a program arranged by the new education committee of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Frank Dales, committee chairman and an IBOP vice president, presided. The meeting opened with a talk by James Mullen, district representative of the United Steelworkers Union, who discussed conditions at Homestead, Pa., his birthplace, and compared them with the workingman's conditions today in Midland under a strong union.

Trainor told the crowd the Ohio "right - to - work" movement was sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers, Ohio Chamber of Commerce and other groups representing management interests. He said backers of the bill attempted to make a racial issue of the proposal at Youngstown, but their charges were refuted by the NAACP.

Trainer declared that the "right-to-work" law is backed by "the same interests that were opposed to minimum wage laws, social security and other laws that benefit the workingman."

City To Drop Tax Case As Man Submits Report

One of three men charged with violation of the city income tax ordinance filed a report and made a payment at the tax office Wednesday, clearing the way for dismissal of the case against him in Municipal Court.

He is Leslie Bell, 1232 Chaffin St., against whom charges were filed Tuesday afternoon alleging he failed to file an estimate of 1958 income with the city office before the deadline July 15.

Similar charges still are pending against Robert Anderson, 1013 Monaca St., and William F. Azdell of Harding Ave.

Chester Youth Fined For Speed Of 90-mph.

James R. Kimble of Chester probably learned Wednesday that West Virginia's laws on auto speeds mean just what they say.

The 17-year-old driver was fined $35 and costs at a hearing before Squire John D. Herron at New Cumberland for speeding 90 miles per hour in a 55 mile zone—or $1 for each mile over the limit.

The panel will discuss prospecting, motivation, approaches, closes, and work habits.

Educational Meeting Now Reset On Monday

The Wellsville "town meeting" on education scheduled for tonight has been postponed, Richard Grills, chairman, announced.

The meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. instead in conjunction with a session of the Wellsville Community Improvement Council at Daw Junior High School.

School finances will be discussed, Grills said.

Dr. Russell Dynes of Ohio State University, supervisor of the survey being made by the WCIC, will be present.

6 Killed In Air Crash

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—"If it had been 10 or 20 feet higher it might not have happened," said a man who saw an Air Force plane crash Wednesday.

The twin-engine C47 hit a fog-shrouded mountain top during a driving rainstorm, just two miles short of its destination, nearby Olmsted Air Force Base.

Final Performance Set Tonight By 'Minstrels'

The final performance of the Wellsville Women's Civic Club show "Minstrels of 1958" will be presented tonight at 8, EST, at the high school auditorium.

About 200 attended the opening Wednesday night. Drawing approval of the crowd were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mellon and son, Joey, of West Point, musical specialty; Miss Fern Porter, torch singer; Mrs. Irma Athey, Charleston dance, and Cecil Boyd, banjo specialist.

Miss Jackie Hephner sang several solos during the intermission. Tony Bernardi of Chester is the director.

Tickets are on sale at the door.

School Opens Magazine Sale

Goal Set At $6,000 In Annual Campaign

Students of East Liverpool High School launched their annual magazine sale today with the goal set at $6,000. The first $300 in profit will be used to defray expenses of the junior prom.

Some 955 students are participating in the sale sponsored by Look Publishing Co. The list includes Look, Coronet, McCalls and Parents magazines. The sale will continue through Nov. 3.

Jane Woessner, a senior, was the highest salesman in Ohio in the 1957-58 campaign. She sold a total of $503, Bert Dawson, dean of boys, said.

A transistor radio and $20 cash will be awarded the student with the most sales, Dawson said. He is in charge of the campaign with Miss Sarah Heddleston in charge of the prizes.

Students sold a total of $5,454.51 subscriptions last year and the goal was $5,000. Proceeds are used to pay for special assemblies, support the visual education program in the high school and, when needed, to help defray the expense of the sophomore party and other student activities.

Mrs. Pauline Robinson, leader, said members are to wear suitable clothing and bring a nosebag. If time permits, the troop will hike to the reservoir. In the event of rain the trip will be postponed.

Patrol leaders and assistants named were Carol Culp, Leslie Lewis, Cindy Davidson, Susan McLaughlin, Mary Lou Johnson and Linda Nicholson.

New Line Of De Sotos Will Be Placed On Display Friday

The 1959 DeSoto will go on display Friday at Central Service, 7th and Jackson St., East Liverpool, and at Central Service, 400 Washington St., Newell.

In its 30th anniversary line of 18 models in four series, DeSoto offers history - making swivel seats and pushbutton weather controls, newest companion to pushbutton driving, already a much imitated automotive engineering pacesetter.

Similarly, the leadership of dramatic fin - shaped "Forward Look" styling has culminated in a design which makes the 1959 model more massive and eye-appealing in appearance.

Along with these outstanding features, the famed sports-type Adventurer engine, delivering 350 horsepower, is available for the first time on all models.

J. B. Wagstaff, general manager of the DeSoto Division said that "in keeping with a generation of fine cars, the 1959 DeSoto was designed as a car of performance and prestige. We feel that this DeSoto can do everything a motorist can possibly ask of it.

"It is an excellent tribute to our 30 years as a manufacturer," he said, "but is only the beginning of a very promising future."

He disclosed that 13 accessories which were optional equipment last year have been made standard on many models, including power brakes and power steering which are now standard on Fireflite and Adventurer models. Safety cushion instrument panel is standard on Firedome, Fireflite and Adventurer models.

Push button three - speed Torqueflite transmission is standard on Firedome, Fireflite and Adventurer models.

Other extra accessories which now become standard on certain models include: wheel covers, plastic steering wheel, front and rear floor carpets, airfoam cushions, electric clock, color sweep moulding, handbrake warning light, windshield washers, and back-up lights.

Another new engineering feature is Level-cruise air suspension, available with Torsion-aire. The latter is standard on all models. Air suspension ride adds air springs to the rear suspension to achieve automatic car leveling under all load conditions.

The new styling gives DeSoto a lower and wider appearance. Outstanding styling features include new massive integrated two-section front bumper with a long horizontal air scoop dividing lower and upper section; eyebrowed dual headlamps, and a new sculptured roof line on four-door hardtop models which adds 3½ inches to leg room and 1¾ inches to headroom. A new contoured "B" post provides additional egress in four - door hardtop models.

Loss In Middletown Fire Put At $50,000

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Every piece of Middletown's fire equipment was called into action Wednesday night to extinguish a stubborn fire that caused an estimated $50,000 damage at the McAlpin department store here.

The fire was confined to the basement but dense smoke billowed throughout the store, out the windows and over a wide area of the downtown district. Firemen were forced to use masks and oxygen tanks and work in shifts to get it out.

Fire Chief William Fishbaugh, who made the estimate of the loss, said smoke caused most of the damage.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started when insulation broke on a three-phase wire to the store's electrical system.

New Talks Slated In Ohio Bell Bid For Rate Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and cities fighting its 28-million-dollar rate increase request may try again next week to settle their differences by negotiation.

Sources close to the negotiations said hearings before the Utilities Commission probably would be permitted to continue the rest of the week, allowing the company to finish presentation of its case. The time would then be ripe to resume private negotiations, which so far have proved fruitless.

One speculation is that if an agreement is reached it will be for a rate increase ranging from 15 to 20 million dollars a year. The cities have maintained that the company, although entitled to some rate increase, is asking a too exorbitant boost.

Meanwhile, the hearing before the Utilities Commission on the application for the rate increase droned into its second day Wednesday. The day primarily was devoted to an analysis of the figures and methods the company used to come up with its valuation on company property.

The point is a crucial one, for Ohio law permits utilities a fair profit on its valuation, called the base rate. The higher the accepted base rate, the higher the permissable users' rates.

Robinson Plays Tender-Hearted

Edward G. Robinson, who made Hollywood crime pay enough to buy a celebrated art collection, would appear to be fashioning another characterization for the professional impersonators — the latter obviously weary of aping Little Caesar's "I'm gonna rub ya out, see!"

Marie Torre

In the near future, it's quite possible that Robinson's caricaturists will be mocking, "I love ya, see!"

On the heels of his run in Broadway's "Middle of the Night," in which he played an aging widower whose life was made unexpectedly rich by a young girl's love, Robinson again will chase Cupid in tonight's "Playhouse 90" production of "Shadows Tremble."

-:-

IN THIS ONE, Robinson portrays a wealthy toy manufacturer who becomes an outlander in a small New England town. Only a spinster school teacher (Beatrice Straight) offers sympathy and eventually the attachment turns to love.

Two romantic roles in succession would indicate a new course for the most famous of all movie gangsters, but Robinson, it appears, is in no mood for ribbing about falling into another typecasting trap.

"Well, this isn't an out-and-out love story," he said defensively. "It's romantic to a point, but basically it's a good character study of a man shunned by a community. I'd call it a modern 'Cherry Orchard.'

"And what's so strange about my playing a role like this? People forget, you know, that I had any number of tender roles in my lifetime.

"As a matter of fact, I didn't play very many gangster roles in pictures, turned down more than I accepted — and most of those were offered by enterprising movie men who kept a close tab on the sheckles that came in from the few gangster pictures I made. I defied them, though."

-:-

EVEN ROBINSON doesn't deny, however, that he made his greatest impression as a gang leader and impersonators still won't let him forget it. Is there a professional mimic around who doesn't include a Robinson imitation in his act?

"Yeh, and I'm a little tired of it," said Robinson, whose disdain can be measured by the fact that he doesn't even have a favorite among his impersonators.

"At this point, people are imitating the imitators — not me — and I probably do the worse imitation of myself. I once was asked to do a parody on my gangster characterization on radio. And you know something, I couldn't do it.

Be that as it may, devotees of Robinson's brand of histronics would do well to remain glued to the set tonight because it's the last television will see of him for a spell. Following the performance, he'll prepare for a movie with Frank Sinatra called "Hole in the Head," one of a slew of pictures he hopes to make to "replace" the vintage assortment of his screenplays currently floating around the channels.

"I see those old movies of mine on TV sometimes," Robinson said, "and I cringe. They're terribly dated. I always tell myself I'm not going to watch, then they come on and . . . well, I can't help it. It's the fascination of the devil, I guess.

EX-CHAMP Joe Louis is in Hollywood for talks with TV interests about a series based on his life. . .

Fred Astaire, who until the other night reserved his dancing feet for the movies, may be reversing the policy. He has a nondancing role in his next movie, "On the Beach," and he's mulling over the idea of portraying the priest in 20th Century-Fox's "Say One for Me."

Maurice Chevalier joins Dinah Shore on Nov. 2, meaning there'll be a surfeit of charm. . . .

As if the current hit tunes don't get enough domestic criticism, our British cousins abroad (specifically the Songwriters Guild of Great Britain) branded U. S. songs as "Unwholesome, often erotically angled, American rubbish." The rap was included in a protest to the BBC for creating a demand for American tunes by giving priority to U. S. recording over British. . .

MGM-TV, which hasn't had the best of luck with its "Thin Man" series, is investing in another private-eye format with Gilbert Roland. Now in the pilot film stage, the series is titled "Amigo," which suits Roland's Latin looks . . .

Ed Murrow's electronic conversation on "Small World" Sunday will be conducted with three authors, Romain Gary from Los Angeles, Martha Gellhorn from Geneva and Malcolm Muggeridge from Sussex, England.

O'Neill Picks Western Link For Freeway

CLEVELAND (AP) — The way was clear today for the state to start acquiring land for the missing Medina-Cuyahoga County link of the North-South Freeway. Gov. C. William O'Neill has decided on the western route through Cuyahoga County.

Originally an easterly route through Parma Heights and Parma was favored. Summit County officials supported an easterly route, but officials and residents of the Cuyahoga County communities through which that route ran opposed it.

Suburban communities along the much less populated western route welcomed a chance to get the freeway.

To a Cleveland Heights audience Wednesday night, O'Neill said:

"I have decided to adopt the westerly route for the Medina Freeway which runs from Medina north through Brunswick, Berea and to Cleveland Hopkins Airport and then easterly along Brookpark Road.

"This route was adopted instead of the easterly route that went through Parma and Parma Heights because it is more convenient to the motoring public and will help the industrial growth of Cuyahoga County."

O'Neill said he also was advocating a by - pass of Cuyahoga County which would run diagonally northeast from Medina to the intersection of Ohio 14 and 82 at Twinsburg. This, he said, would "assist the industrial growth of the Akron area."

Sunday School will convene at 10 a. m.

Young people's meeting will be held Friday night at 8 with Elmer McClelland in charge. There will be a meeting of the Pathfinder Club at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

Band Mothers Name Decorating Group For Dance

The decorating committee for the annual band dance was named at a meeting of the ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers Tuesday night at the Memorial Auditorium.

The dance will be April 17 at the Country Club. The committee includes Mrs. Richard R. Curren, chairman, Mrs. Al Dunn, Mrs. Thomas Fannin, Mrs. Lawrence Johnston, Mrs. Clair Manypenny, Mrs. Merl McSwegin and Mrs. Joseph Persohn.

Mrs. Manypenny conducted devotions. Mrs. Victor Cline is president. Twenty - five were present.

It was announced the Key Club and the Hall-Snyder Bus Co. are sponsoring the band trips to out-of-town football games.

Plans were started for a rummage sale in the near future. The club is selling Christmas candy. Orders may be placed with Mrs. Cline, FU. 6-6547, or any other member.

The dance band of the high school played four selections. Lunch was served by the social committee.

"Fathers' Night" will be observed at the next meeting Nov. 18.

Involved Dope Case Unfolds In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A narcotics case has developed here involving a doctor who police say wrote a morphine prescription for a man he knew was dead.

It also involves a pharmacist who dispensed the drug to a customer, under the dead man's prescription, and the customer gave it to his wife who became an addict.

The story was told by police Wednesday, when they filed charges of narcotics law violations against Dr. Frederick C. Finke, 41; Joseph S. Goodwin, 54, past president of the Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacy, and Opha E. McIntosh, 68, and his wife, Adelaide, 48. The woman was confined to a sanitarium as a result of taking the morphine.

Police said Dr. Finke on Sept. 28 wrote a prescription for George Redinger, 85-year - old pensioner, although knowing that Redinger had died in April 1953.

They said Goodwin used similar prescriptions in the past to sell McIntosh the morphine tablets.

Officers said they believed the doctor and pharmacist acted without criminal intent, but that charges were filed because such practices, if carried on by others, would create a serious problem.

The four, if tried and convicted, face penalties ranging up to $10,000 fines and 2 to 40 years in prison.

Pheasant Released After Home Intrusion

A pheasant is back in its native habitat after spending five days in a cardboard box as a "guest" of an East End family.

Edgar Poe, 912 Railroad St., released the bird Tuesday night on the Ohio River bank near his home, ending captivity that started Oct. 16 when the bird flew through a bedroom window at his home.

The family kept the bird in a cardboard box and contacted Game Protector R. L. Lide at Beloit to learn what it should do with the pheasant. The game protector promised to come to East Liverpool as quickly as possible to take the pheasant, explaining he was busy with other problems at Guilford Lake. Poe solved the dilemma by releasing the pheasant.

Campaign Repeat Of 1954

President's 'Ready Grin' Philosophy Only Parttime

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's philosophy of the "ready grin" is only parttime.

That's why for him this year's congressional campaign is a repeat of 1954. Then and now he hung back at first from a full-blown attack on Democrats. But when things got tough he wound up clubbing them.

Eisenhower revealed his philosophy to Republicans on his Oct. 14 birthday. While he was still young in the Army, he said, an older soldier told him the most important quality for a staff officer was a "ready grin." He practiced it.

In time he became chief of staff and famous for his grin. Do the same, he told Republicans: "As you see someone irritating you, just grin."

He neglected to say it doesn't always work.

In 1953 — after his sensational election and while his Republicans controlled Congress and Democrats were extraordinarily nice to him—he indicated he wouldn't be very active in the 1954 congressional elections.

He explained: Anybody occupying the White House was president of all the people and he had no intention of going out and getting into partisan struggles in any district or state.

But 1954 came and with it a growing likelihood voters were going to throw out the Republicans —as they did—and give the Democrats control of Congress. His fellow Republicans flocked to him for help. In the end he plunged into the campaign.

He had to campaign, of course, in 1956 when he himself was running for re-election.

As the 1958 congressional elections rolled around, Eisenhower once again showed signs of wanting to remain above the strife. Again reports piled up indicating another Democratic victory. Once more Eisenhower packed his ready grin in the trunk and went into the campaign, making at Los Angeles this week perhaps his most savage attack on Democrats.

Vice President Nixon, another specialist in grinning, has never shown any of Eisenhower's reluctance to get into the rough-and-tumble of the campaign.

He leaped at the Democrats jugular in 1954, in such a way that many of them have never forgiven him. Now he's at their throats again. Once again the Democrats are sore.

But this time some Democrats are sore at Eisenhower, as well as at Nixon, for the ruggedness of his attack on them.

Wednesday, Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, said after this campaign he believes "many Americans of all political beliefs will share a feeling of disquiet, perhaps of shame, over the tone of the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign of 1958."

Does this mean that if the Democrats win they'll abandon their restraint and respect towards Eisenhower and make his last two years in the White House rough ones?

Butler says no, that victorious Democrats would not "stoop to partisan bickering." The trouble with this pronouncement is that Butler has no control over what Democrats in Congress do or want to do.

In his first six White House years Eisenhower—perhaps mainly because Democrats have a healthy respect for his broad popularity—has faced comparatively little attack on himself.

But it will be astonishing if the Democrats continue to lay off him during these next two years which, in a way, will be a preparation by both parties for the combined presidential and congressional elections of 1960.

Critical School Housing Problem Shown In Survey

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than 50,000 students are either attending schools in split sessions or receiving lessons in non-classroom facilities, the Ohio Education Assn. says.

An association state-wide survey showed critical school housing problems in 132 districts.

"Ohio schools are in much more serious trouble than is generally realized," said T. G. O'Keefe, OEA research director.

O'Keefe said some school districts have been forced to convert store rooms, garages, coal rooms, locker rooms, gymnasiums and teachers' rest rooms into classrooms.

The survey also showed 12,888 pupils attending classes in buildings other than schools. Churches are the most widely used facility, although office buildings and even private dwellings have been pressed into service.

The survey also brought out that 14,324 pupils in 16 districts are attending split, multiple or double sessions.

Steubenville Central Brings Two-Game Win Streak Here

Fleet Halfback Chief Threat For Crusaders

Steubenville Central High's Crusaders, getting into full stride after a slow start, will bring a two-game winning streak and the top touchdown producer in the school history to Patterson Field Friday night when they battle East Liverpool.

The Crusaders, whipped by the Potters last year, 21-14, have a 3-3 mark and will have all their regulars in peak condition following last week's 44-16 romp over Bellaire St. John's.

The Ohio Valley's biggest team numerically, the Crusaders have rolled over Toronto, 48-8, Mingo, 28-12, and victimized St. John's last week in rapidly approaching the form predicted for them earlier in the season. The Crusader squad numbers about 88.

—:—

FLEET HALFBACK George Walkosky, a 6-1, 175-pound senior, is on his way to becoming one of the greatest touchdown producers in Central's history.

Converted from a quarterback to halfback, he has rambled for 10 touchdowns this year, including a pair of long runs of 65 and 60 yards in the Bellaire St. John's rout.

In addition to being a highly-touted runner with explosive speed, Walkosky is also the prime target for passes thrown by quarterback Joe Polshaw, 170 - pound junior, and figures to be the man for the Potters to stop.

He carried the ball only five times last week, but picked up 76 yards in brief action as Coach John Baroni used his starters only half the way.

Meanwhile, the injury situation in the Potter camp has improved somewhat and Coach Lou Venditti may have his team as near its top strength since the very beginning of the season.

Halfback Dave Zelch, a key man in the Potter defensive lineup, and also one of the team's best runners, is slated to see action against Central. Zelch has missed the last two games with physical ailments.

Hefty tackle Mike Kapp may don togs for the first time in about a month. The remainder of the squad appears in fair shape, Venditti said, although several are still nursing bruises received in the Bellaire encounter last week.

—:—

OF PRIMARY concern is the condition of quarterback Bob Mackall, who missed last week's game after being battered at Warren. Mackall has worked out only briefly in practice drills this week, but may have recovered enough to draw the starting assignment Friday, the Potter coach said.

In case Mackall sits this one out, the signal - calling duties again will be handled by rapidly improving Ken Cunningham, 140-pound sophomore, whose passing has proved surprising, Venditti said.

Cunningham got his first real taste of varsity action against Warren, tossed a touchdown pass to sophomore Tim Archer, and has lately been improving on ball handling. He went the distance against Bellaire.

It will be the eighth meeting between Central and East Liverpool since 1944 and all indications point to another thriller in the hotly - contested series. Each team has won three and lost three, while the 1945 game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Baroni said that "he was most afraid of the Potter passing game with the excellent throwing of Mackall and Cunningham," but was quick to add that "East Liverpool's running game is more than adequate."

He pointed out that Central has "looked improved" in its last two games, but ventured that the competition wasn't as tough as the Potter opponents. He indicated that the East Liverpool game will serve as a measuring stick as to the actual strength of the Crusaders.

TEAMING with Walkosky at the other halfback post will be Stacey Gillen, 168 pounds. Tom Feeney, 175-pounder who is a powerful runner but not exceptionally fast, gets the starting call at fullback. Polshaw, the quarterback, is rated a fair passer. Gillen and right end Rich Saccoccia, 170 pounds, are co - captains.

Central will field a heavy line, with tackles Ralph Zrinyi and Bill Slocum hitting the 200 - pound mark. Joe DiDonato, left guard, scales 195, and the other end, Cosmo Quattrone, goes 175 pounds. Bill Corella, starting center, is 170 pounds, and Dave France, right guard, is 155 pounds.

The only players on Central's squad who are listed as doubtful starters on either offensive or defensive units are Ron Busick, 210 pounds, and Earl Marshall, 215 pounds. Busick has been hampered with a leg infection, while Marshall has a bruised leg. Anthony Capaldi, a 215-pound sophomore, is also reported to be on the ailing list.

When Clemson beat North Carolina this season it was the 100th victory for Tiger coach Frank Howard. But it was his first over a Jim Tatum - coached team in six efforts.

CADET DONALD R. BONKO of Lorain, O., visits with Cadet Harry M. Walters in the training room at West Point Military Academy. Walters is undergoing treatment for an ankle injury he suffered in the last period of the Army-Virginia game last Saturday. Bonko is set to replace him in the Army-Pitt game Saturday at Pittsburgh. Cream Of Injured College Players Could Be Good All-America Team

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

You could take the cream of the college football players laid up with injuries this season and come up with a pretty formidable All America team, just about as formidable as the problems the coaches face in replacing them.

Down in the Southwest, Southern Methodist Coach Bill Meek first lost end and star punter Dave Sherer in the opener against Ohio State. The next weekend he lost quarterback and ace passer Don Meredith against Notre Dame.

Meek hoped to have both ready for Georgia Tech this weekend.

Army, with its limited manpower, is hurting for its game with Pitt. Fullback Harry Walters is out with a sprained ankle. The condition of halfback Pete Dawkins' charley horse won't be known until Friday.

Meantime, Coach Red Blaik is doing some wild reshuffling in the Army backfield.

Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz said Wednesday that he had to rebuild his line after losing starting ends John Kanuch and Tom Hyde last Saturday against Tulane. All America tackle Bob Reifsynder hasn't played since injuring his ankle in fall practice. Two fourth stringers a month ago, Paul Mankowicz and George Bezek, took over the end slots as the Tars prepped for Penn.

Iowa State, unable to score in its last nine quarters of play, is without a regular kicker, according to Coach Clay Stapleton. Two punters, Cliff Rick and John Scheldrup, are both injured as the team preps for Missouri.

Virginia's quarterback and aerial ace Reece Whitley, who missed the Army game last week, is also out of the Vanderbilt game Saturday. Fred Russell is Whitley's probable replacement.

Princeton and Cornell meet Saturday in a game that will go a long way towards deciding the Ivy League winner. Princeton welcomes back star tailback Dan Sachs and tackle Frank Schultz, while the Big Red may have halfback and Capt. Bob Hazzard for spot service. Sachs was injured two weeks ago against Penn, Schultz has not played at all due to head injuries, nor has Hazzard because of a knee injury.

Notre Dame added fullback Nick Pietrosante to its injury list that includes co-captains Al Ecuyer and Chuck Puntillo, while Syracuse's star tackle Ron Luciano is out of the Penn State game with a virus infection.

On the credit side, Ohio State should have its starting backfield intact for Saturday's game with Wisconsin, for the first time since the season's opener as quarterback Frank Kremblas is reported in perfect condition. Dick LeBeau, Bob White and Don Clark also have been plagued by injuries in the first four games.

But Boston College can't say the same for quarterback Don Allard, expected to miss the Miami game Saturday. He has been out with a shoulder injury since Sept. 29. Georgia Tech, who uses the quick kick the way some teams use the forward pass, lost Joe Delany, its quickkick artist, with a sprained ankle, and he may miss the SMU game Saturday.

Baylor Shines In Pro Debut With Lakers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It took All-America Elgin Baylor just eight seconds to get on the scoreboard in his first pro basketball game and just one night to fire the fancy of Minneapolis Laker fans.

The 6-6 rookie from Seattle University scored 25 points in his National Basketball Assn. debut Wednesday night in steering the Lakers to a walkaway 99-79 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

The smoothly-coordinated collegiate star, who drew some $20,000 for signing with a team that is out of business if the bonus boy cant't bring in the crowds, bagged 10 of 21 field goal tries, 5 of 7 free throws, gathered 13 rebounds and had 6 assists.

Jack Parr, former Kansas State ace, also showed to advantage in his league debut. He scored 14 points for the Royals and was topped only by Dave Piontek with 17.

The New York Knickerbockers also made news in the NBA by obtaining Frank Selvy, former All-America from Furman, from the St. Louis Hawks for their second draft choice next spring and by defeating Philadelphia 109-108 in and exhibition game.

The Knicks will be the fourth club Selvy has played with since 1954. He was drafted by the defunct Baltimore Bullets, moved to Milwaukee when the Baltimore clubs folded, went with the Hawks to St. Louis when the Milwaukee franchise was transferred and played with Minneapolis last season on a lend-lease basis.

Unrestricted Draft Of Minor Leaguers Seen Financial Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The proposed unrestricted draft of minor league baseball players was seen today as a financial boom to minor league clubs and a curtailment of large bonus payments.

Unrestricted draft by the major leagues was recommended Wednesday by a nine-man committee appointed last month by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. Under the present rule the majors may draft only players who have had four years' experience.

The committee, headed by Frank Lane of Cleveland, figured that a major league club will think twice before it pays a big sum for an untried youngster, who could be drafted from the minors by another big league club the following year.

"Curtailment of payment of a large number of bonuses to untried players will provide major league clubs with an opportunity to funnel into the minor leagues additional financial aid," said Sam Smith, president of the Alabama-Florida League who represented circuits of Class B, C and D on the committee.

Another committee member said the unrestricted draft will give minor league clubs an opportunity to develop their own young players and then sell them to the major leagues since the big boys won't be so ready to pay large bonuses.

The proposed legislation will be submitted to the majors at their December meeting in Washington D.C.

Archie Dees, a member of last season's Indiana Big Ten championship team, is with the Cincinnati Royals in the National Basketball Assn.

Pitt To Pull 'All Stops' In Effort To Stop Army

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's football team is pulling out all stops for Saturday's game here with unbeaten Army. The Panthers have several reasons.

For one thing a victory would give Pitt the prestige of whipping the nation's No. 1 ranked team.

For another, the game will go a long way toward deciding the eventual winner of the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern football supremacy. Army, winner in four games, and Pitt with a 4-1 record, currently are one-two in the weekly balloting.

Pitt Coach John Michelosen figures, quite naturally, his biggest problem will be stopping Army's fabulous halfback duo of Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson and "lonesome end" Bill Carpenter.

"Lonesome George," said Michelosen making up his own tag, "kept me awake trying to figure a way to defense him. He's so fast you almost have to use two men to cover him. And he can come in diagonally for a quick pass or go deep."

If Michelosen has figured a way to stop the Cadets, who last week regained the national lead in total offense, he's keeping it under wraps.

In a radical departure for Pitt, the Panthers have opened up their offense considerably. Quarterback Ivan Toncic is especially prone to relay on aerials. He has completed 20 of 30 heaves, including three for touchdowns.

Seniors Golf Champ Beaten

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Three weeks ago when Thomas Robbins of Pinehurst won the U.S. Golf Assn. Senior championship at Pebble Beach, Calif., two of the losing quarterfinalists were Chick Evans, the old campaigner from Chicago, and John McGuire of Martinsville, Ind.

Today when the quarterfinals in the North and South Seniors tournament got under way Robbins was among the missing. McGuire and Evans were the most prominent of the eight survivors.

McGuire sent Robbins to the sidelines in Wednesday's rain-soaked second round, 2 and 1.

Evans, winner of the U.S. Open and Amateur crowns 42 years ago, eased by Leon Sykes Sr., of Palm Beach, Fla., 4 and 3.

McGuire's opponent today was James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill. Evans drew Jack Brittain Sr., of Woodhaven, N. Y.

McAlvin, who struggled through an 11-man playoff for seven match play places Tuesday morning, had another overtime battle before advancing. He beat Frank Ross of Hartford, Conn., on the 21st hole.

Brittain breezed by Frank Stevens of New Rochelle, N. Y., 5 and 4.

In the lower bracket it was Eugene Pittman of Washington, D. C., against Capt. Frederick Holmes of Riviera Beach, Fla., and W. E. Baker of Durham, N. C., against J. Wolcott Brown of Sea Girt, N. J.

Jordan Seen Akins' Rival

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Young Don Jordan of Los Angeles today emerged as the next probable title opponent of world welterweight champion Virgil Akins.

Jordan scored a split decision over Gaspar (Indian) Ortega of Tijuana, Mexico, in an unusual charity fight in 12 rounds Wednesday night. Today negotiations for formal contracts were opened for a title fight in Los Angeles Dec. 5.

Jordan outpointed Ortega in the view of Referee Frankie Van and Judge Tommy Hart, each scoring it 116-114 under California's 10-point-must per round system. Judge Lee Grossman had Ortega on top 115-113.

The nationally televised fight was the 46th win in 55 bouts for 23-year-old Jordan and the 14th loss in 62 matches for Ortega.

There were no knockdowns but it was an action-packed contest.

Jordan weighed 143¾ and Ortega 145¾.

The fight was staged in the grand ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel, recent residence of beauties in the Miss Universe Contest.

More than 1,000 members of the Optimist Club and the sports-minded Century Club paid $25 for a steak dinner and, as the tickets read, "a night of boxing."

Tom Ferrick New Coach Of Phils Hurlers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Baseball's Tom Ferrick is coming back to Philadelphia and there isn't a happier coach in the game.

Ferrick, who has made his permanent home here since his rookie days with the old Athletics back in 1941, was named pitching coach of the Phillies by Manager Eddie Sawyer Wednesday.

He had been with Birdie Tebbetts in Cincinnati since 1953, but has been available since Birdie's resignation as Redlegs' manager.

"My first concern was to stay in baseball and I am joining a fine organization. Then, too, it's nice to be able to live at home. The bigger your family gets, the harder it is to move them for the baseball season," the 43-year-old mound veteran said.

Ferrick, his wife and six youngsters live in suburban Havertown.

Responsible in some measure for past successes with such Cincinnati veterans as Hal Jeffcoat, Hershell Freeman, Brooks Lawrence and Bob Purkey, Ferrick has high hopes he can help the Phils.

"There are a lot of good arms on the club," he said. "With youngsters like Don Cardwell, Seth Morehead and Jim Owens, and with Robin Roberts on the right track, it could be a fine staff.

"What happened this year (the Phillies finished in last place) I don't know, but there are many things about baseball which defy explanation. I just hope I can contribute something."

North Carolina State College has a 140-piece marching band on hand for its football games. Majorette Linda Wey is a nuclear engineering major from Boone, N. C.

Tribe Chiefs Have Fingers In War Paint

CLEVELAND (AP) — The big wampum bearers in the Cleveland Indians' wigwam had their fingers in the war paint today, and it probably will be many moons before peace pipes glow again.

The current conflict comes hard upon a tribal decision not to seek a happier hunting ground south of the plains country at Houston or in the land of the sky blue water at Minneapolis.

Lined up on one side of the tepee are Charles M. Baxter Jr., his brother, Andy Baxter, and Hank Greenberg.

On the other side, controlling about two-thirds of the wampum invested in the Tribe are big chief William R. Daley and other stockholders.

The squabble adds up to this:

The Baxters and Greenberg — general manager of the baseball club for eight seasons until replaced by Frank Lane a year ago — have made public their dissatisfaction with the way the front office is operating. Clear out the dead wood, they say, naming no names but specifying they don't include Lane.

They say they will buy out the majority stockholders or they will sell their minority holding to the majority. Same price either way.

Based on an offer from Houston it would mean about a 50 per cent profit for the seller. The present owners paid rearly a four million dollar price for the Cleveland baseball club two years ago. Most of that amount was in notes and other debts they took over, not in cash.

Daley, spokesman for the other side, says he does "not want to enter into any public squabbling" and can't "see how it can help the ball club."

Some time ago I said that we had plans about strengthening management," he stated.

"I definitely do not intend to sell my stock," he continued, and added that he will not buy out the dissatisfied trio of directors at an asking price based on the Houston offer. Daley said he would buy them out "at a fair price" but that the Houston offer was on a condition of transfer of the franchise.

"The Indians are here to stay," he said, repeating the announcement he made a week ago.

20,000 Jap Fans See Musial In Drill

TOKYO (AP) — Some 20,000 Japanese baseball fans thronged Komazawa Stadium today to watch Stan "The Man" Musial and the visiting St. Louis Cardinals hold their first workout.

The Cards open a 16-game goodwill tour Friday in Tokyo's Korakuen Stadium against one of the strongest nines the Japanese have mustered from Japan's two professional baseball leagues.

"I never saw so many people watch a mere workout," Solly Hemus, the Redbirds' manager told a reporter.

Lauds Ohio Gridder

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Tackle Jim Gardner, a Portsmouth, Ohio, native, drew praise from Duke line coaches for his speedy work on downfield blocking assignments during a practice session Wednesday. Earlier this week Blue Devil Coach Bill Murray publicly complimented Garner for his fine game against Notre Dame last Saturday.

West Virginia, Indiana Back In Good Grace With NCAA

Served Year On Probation For Violations

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana and West Virginia have been restored to good standing by the NCAA after serving one-year probationary periods.

The NCAA policy - directing council made the announcement Wednesday in ending a three-day session.

Indiana's penalty followed Big Ten action last year when Hoosier Football Coach Phil Dickens was suspended for the season for violating Big Ten recruiting rules.

West Virginia's case concerned a violation of expense rules in the recruiting of a basketball player.

The council did not impose any additional disciplinary action on any other NCAA member. This was the first time in 12 meetings since 1954 it has not taken such measures.

However, 15 cases are pending and 20 others are in a state of preliminary investigation. Eight schools remain under varying degrees of NCAA punishment — UCLA, Southern California, Seattle, Auburn, North Carolina State, Southern Methodist, Wichita and Memphis State.

In other main items of business, the council:

1. Proposed that any college athletic staff member should be considered guilty of unethical conduct if he were compensated for scouting or negotiating for professional teams.

2. Ruled, effective upon circulation among the members, that any athlete receiving direct or indirect financial aid from a professional sports organization will be ineligible for collegiate athletics.

Both measurse were aimed primarily at relationships between colleges and professional baseball, said Walt Byers, executive director of the NCAA.

Jury Will Resume Deliberations In Bank Theft Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A U.S. District Court jury will resume deliberations today in the bank robbery trial of Charles A. Walker of Canton, Ohio.

The jury was unable to reach a verdict Wednesday after almost six hours of deliberation.

Walker, 30, is charged with the $110,000 holdup of a Louisville branch bank last Dec. 9. It was one of the largest robberies in Louisville's history.

Walker and his family have testified that Walker was in Canton the day of the holdup. He is free on bonds totaling $75,000.

The jury has requested rehearing today of testimony of two government witnesses who identified Walker as one of the robbers.

Darl Dee Parker, 27, also of Canton, has also been indicted for armed robbery in the same case. His trial has been postponed until the March term of the court.

Auburn Tops On Defense In College Ranks

By The Associated Press

Auburn had its long winning streak broken by a 7-7 tie with Georgia Tech last week, but that didn't stop the Plainsmen from adding to their prestige as a rock-ribbed defensive football unit.

The Plainsmen now lead the nation's major colleges in rushing defense, passing defense and total defense, the first time any team has set the pace in all three departments.

Auburn is ahead of its championship pace of last year. It has allowed an average of 48.3 yards a game rushing and 44.8 yards passing for a total of 93, compared with its respective figures of 65.8, 72 and 147.8 a year ago at this time. The current total defense is the best since the 1947 Penn State team's four-game average of 69.8. Figures were released today by National Collegiate Athletic Bureau in New York.

Only two teams — Oregon and Mississippi — have allowed fewer points than Auburn. Oregon has yielded 12 points, and Mississippi 14. Auburn and Colorado are next with 15 each, followed by Army with 16 and LSU with 22.

Auburn achieved the pass defense lead despite the fact Tech completed 8 of 10 tosses Saturday. They were good for only 71 yards, however. Purdue, climbing from fifth to second in total defense, held Michigan State to 38 rushing yards and 65 through the air.

Tulsa, rolling for 561 yards in swamping Drake Saturday for the best offensive performance of the week, also turned in the best defensive performance. It held the Iowans to minus two yards on land to move from fourth to second in rushing defense.

Syracuse jumped from 38th to 10th in total defense by limiting Nebraska to 11 yards rushing and 30 passing.

Fear Of Midnight Knock Gone From Soviet Union

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The clammy fear of the midnight knock on the door is gone from the Soviet Union, but the memory lingers.

A few years ago the average Russian wouldn't dare talk to an American on the street. Today an American can't step out of Moscow's Metropol Hotel without being besieged by Russians asking for everything from chewing gum to Glenn Miller records.

A block or two farther away the more serious ones fall into step. They'll ask you for American magazines or shirts.

In the last several months some have even started offering to buy American dollars. Even under relaxed Soviet laws they are risking Siberia. Or—you never know—they may be just testing you out.

Many of the people who approach you just want to talk to a real, live American. They might even join you for lunch. Few will go beyond that.

Despite the Kremlin's protestations of peaceful coexistence and freedom for all, the people still have some of the feeling of the days when association with a foreigner was a crime.

"I think it's perfectly all right for us to meet now," one Russian told me, "but you never know. Things may change again."

"You never know," seems to be the present state of mind in Russia.

A few Russians visited our Moscow apartment. Some wanted to so badly they didn't care about the militiaman (Soviet policeman) who guarded our door and checked out visitors 24 hours a day. You never knew if they were bold, or had reason not to worry.

All of them wanted to read magazines, listen to records and talk—about life in the United States, art, music and similar topics.

Earlier this year Komsomolskaya Pravda, guardian of youthful Soviet morals, denounced some young Russians for such associations. I saw one of them a few months later. Her head had been shaved, she had been kicked out of the Komsomols, the party youth organization, and was having trouble finding a job.

The charge: aping Americans, immoral behavior and giving out information.

Association with Americans, which the Kremlin has officially favored since Stalin's death, sometimes produces reverse results.

John Baker, a young American Embassy official, was declared persona non grata and expelled from the Soviet Union a few months after he started attending classes at Moscow University, and making friends.

That was called behavior unbecoming a diplomat. There was no other charge.

Some of the ordinary people talk with amazing frankness. They love their anecdotes, that amazing Russian safety valve that lets off steam with every turn of the party line.

One of the anecdotes describes the Communist type catechism Soviet children go through on entering the Pioneers, the kiddies' party organization.

"Who is your mother?" the boys are asked.

"The Communist party, for it takes care of all our needs," they answer ritually.

"And who is your father?"

"Nikita Sergeievich Khrushchev."

"And what do you want to be when you grow up?"

One aspires to be a factory manager, another a scientist, the third a football star.

Comes the turn of little Ivan. He too says the party is his mother and Khrushchev his father.

And what does he want to be?

"An orphan," he replies.

The Kremlin is launched on a tightrope. When Khrushchev denounced Stalin 2½ years ago, he said, in effect: Let a little freedom grow.

A little freedom has a way of burgeoning.

In the last two years the little freedoms that the Russians won have been burgeoning only to be batted down again. So far they haven't been batted down to the level of Stalin's day.

But the Communist party is still in complete and unchallenged control, and it's not likely to do anything that would jeopardize this control.

Calorie Measure Aids Dieter

On the weight score, it's the grand total of calories that makes the difference. However, there are two ways to regard calories. We can think of them as little gremlins that in excess turn into ugly pounds. Or, we can use calorie arithmetic to help banish unwanted pounds.

Ida Jean Kain

Actually, calories are merely a measure. We do not eat calories, we eat food which furnishes fuel for go-power for the human machine. The amount of fuel in a food, a recipe, or in a meal can be measured in terms of calories. Since the calorie yardstick is an exact measure, this takes much of the guess work out of weight control. The calorie measure is the dieter's best friend.

—:—

THERE'S A COMMON complaint that food seems to get more fattening as time goes by and calories add up faster. Indirectly, there's some truth in that complaint.

After 25 years of age, the human power plant requires less fuel to cover internal processes, and we burn at least 5 per cent fewer calories with each passing decade. Also, we take things easier physically as the years go by. There it is. That's why eating as usual, we pile on pounds.

The term calories refers only to fuel or quantity, not to the quality of the calorie. In other words, calories give no indication of the nutrient value provided. . .no more than a yard of cloth gives any clue to the kind of "goods" in the yard.

When calories must be lessened, the quality of these calories becomes more important. All foods furnish calories, but some are rich sources of the essential nutrients.

These foods are aptly termed "protective." Foods which furnish a plethora of calories but very little protection are termed "empty calorie" foods. Nutritionally speaking, "empty calories" applies to foods which are lacking in protein, minerals and vitamins.

Common sources of empty calories are cooking fats, poor quality baked goods, sugar and alcohol.

Fortunately, foods high in protection — lean meat, fish and fowl, eggs, cottage cheese, skim milk and buttermilk, green and yellow vegetables and fruits — are not high in calories. A reducing diet made up of 1,000 to 1,100 calories a day, chiefly in these protective foods, affords perfect nutrition.

—:—

KEEP THE calorie score. Reducers report that the surest way to lose is to keep track of all calories. If necessary, keep a diet diary and record the food eaten along with the calorie score.

Many dieters make a game of calorie counting. They rule the diet, it doesn't rule them!

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

And Please Hurry!

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Lovelorn columnist Ann Landers offers readers of the Salt Lake Tribune a booklet on dating behavior entitled, "How Far to Go." One reader who wrote for the booklet penned this postscript: "And please hurry!"

Boy, 2, Plucked From 11-Foot Hole By Rescue Teams

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — A 2-year-old boy was plucked from the bottom of an 11-foot hole Wednesday after rescue workers labored three anxious hours.

Fifty men worked in shifts to scoop out a trench parallel to the hole to reach little Johnny Carmichael.

The child fell into the hole while walking with his father, E. C. Carmichael, about 100 yards behind their rural home. The hole, about 12 inches in diameter, was dug to hold a lightning arrester.

Johnny was unhurt.

Oilfield workers and volunteers hurried to the scene after hearing of the accident. A plastic hood was lowered to covery Johnny from was lowered to cover Johnny from a possible cave-in and oxygen was pumped into the hole.

After rescue workers had removed more than 16 yards of dirt from the six-foot-wide trench, Carmichael and J. W. Henderson reached Johnny. Henderson picked the boy up, wrapped a blanket around him and handed him to Dr. Charles A. Kelley.

Dr. Kelley transferred the boy to the arms of his mother, who had stood by with her daughter and other son.

Johnny himself was indignant, demanding to know "why it took so long to get me out."

Asks Divorce, TV Set

DENVER (AP)—Arthur Ernest Risley filed a complaint in Denver District Court. He asked for two things: a divorce from his wife Alice, and the family's TV set.

Workers Start Back At Norwood GM Plant

CINCINNATI (AP) — Members of the United Automobile Workers Union started going back to work today at General Motors' Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants in suburban Norwood.

Both plants are expected to be in full operation by Friday.

The back - to - work movement ended a 20-day strike of approximately 2,700 UAW members. Wednesday, they ratified an agreement covering local issues.

Wrong Connection

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Workmen recently installed a stove for burning wood shavings in the old City Hall here. Wednesday smoke filled every room in the building. An inspection revealed the stove had been connected to the ventilating duct instead of to the chimney duct.

Taft's Campaign Head Will Support DiSalle

CLEVELAND (AP)—Howard I. Chesler, campaign manager for Charles P. Taft in the Republican gubernatorial primary, today announced his personal support of Michael V. DiSalle, the Democratic nominee.

Chesler, a Cleveland attorney, emphasized that he was speaking only for himself.

Although Taft, of Cincinnati, did not campaign actively, Chesler was active here in behalf of Taft. Chesler said he declared at that time it was the "thoughtful judgment of many people that the present governor (C. William O'Neill) cannot be re-elected."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Children Should Come Ahead Of House

Little children who live in an apartment may have a hard time of it if they are not taken outdoors for some free play one or several times daily. But for the mother who does all her own work, this may be difficult, especially if she lets herself be over - concerned about keeping her home in order. Of course, a few mothers are slovenly housekeepers. But for every one of such, there are probably 20 who devote so much time to keeping things orderly and tidy that they don't have time to enjoy their little children.

By Garry Meyers

—:—

A WISCONSIN mother, realizing she was one of these, resolved to mend her ways.

She writes as follows:

"We live in an upstairs three-room apartment. We have a yard, but no fence, facing a busy street. However, my girls have learned to stay in their own yard.

"During the winter, my oldest girl didn't get out much and I always had work to do. As I was particular about my housework, I felt I was betraying myself if I let it go. Now I have learned to let things go and take my girls outside to play.

"They are playing nicely with others and when they do break a rule they must go indoors for a short while. This makes more of an impression on them than a spanking and has longer - lasting effect.

"Twice in the past we have lived in a small apartment. Each time it has showed a strain on my daughter. I won't let it happen again.

—:—

"SHE IS doing excellently in her Sunday school nursery class according to her teacher, so it is possible that my motherly concern is exaggerated.

"And while the outdoor exercise isn't the entire answer to a child's misbehavior, it certainly is a step. Don't you agree?

"So my advice to the many, many young mothers who are apartment dwellers like myself is this:

"Let some of the housework go. Take the children out so they can play, so that when naptime or bedtime comes they will want to go to sleep. Then use that time to catch up on your household tasks."

This mother was kind to report on her progress. She's sure a resourceful mother and her advice is far more eloquent than mine could be.

My bulletin, "Enoying Our Children," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

September Shows Lag In Sale Of U.S. Bonds

Sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Columbiana County during September totaled $182,459, a decrease of $87,239 compared to the same month a year ago, William B. Cooper, county co-chairman, announced today.

Nationwide sales were $352 million, with Series H showing an increase of .44 per cent and Series E a decrease of 9 per cent. Cooper said, "While sales of E bonds through industrial concerns are down, we find many individuals and groups purchasing the current income Series H bonds."

The Kingdom of Jordan has a population of about 400,000 living on about 5 per cent of the nation's total geographical area.

Ohio 'Magician' Charged In Three Cleveland Thefts

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Harry T. Albacker, 33, of Vermilion, who calls himself a free-lance magician and has been appearing weekly on a children's television program from a Cleveland station, has been charged with three burglaries here.

Albacker, known to children TV viewers as "Tricky Harry," pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Wednesday to breaking and entering Sept. 24 at the American Legion Home and on Oct. 8 at the Italian-American Veterans Home. At the Legion $427 was stolen, and an undetermined amount of money was taken at the Italian-American Veterans Home.

The third burglary was Sept. 21 at the Lorain Arena, and Albacker denied any connection with this.

Jackie A. Martin, 21, of Lorain, alleged accomplice, admitted his part in the burglaries and was bound over to the grand jury on $2,500 bond. Albacker's bond was set at $5,000.

Mrs. FDR Says U.N. Police May Have Halted Reds

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A strong United Nations' police force might have deterred the Russians from sending tanks to crush the Hungarian rebellion, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said Wednesday night.

Speaking on behalf of the Akron chapter of the American Assn. for the United Nations, the 74-year-old Mrs. Roosevelt told a crowd of 1,000:

"We must have an international police force strong enough to enforce any United Nations decision. The Soviets may not have been willing to risk sending tanks into Hungary against a United Nations force."

Although "the Soviet Union has no great desire for a police force that can act quickly," she said, they would not take an inflexible posiiton against establishment of such a force in the face of world opinion.

Proposed As Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kentucky Sens. Sherman Cooper and Thruston B. Morton, both Republicans, have recommended James Park, Lexington, Ky., attorney, to be judge of the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals. The final decision regarding appointment to the sixth circuit, which includes Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Michigan, rests with President Eisenhower. A vacancy was created on the bench with the appointment to the Supreme Court of Judge Potter Stewart of Cincinnati.

Promote Program In U.N.

Sen. Thruston Urges U.S. Reduce Bilateral Aid Plan

CINCINNATI (AP)—U. S. Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky) suggested here today that the time has come when the United States should consider reducing its bilateral aid program to under - developed nations and promote such activity within the framework of the United Nations.

Sen. Morton spoke at a United Nations Day luncheon here.

Declaring there are many obvious advantages to a multilateral United Nations approach to the economic and social problems of under-developed countries, Morton said:

"There will be great incentive for an increased participation by those UN members who today enjoy an industrial development and a decent standard of living. This will ease the burden on the U.S. taxpayer. UN programs will be better received by the recipient people.

"It is a well known fact that friendship cannot be bought. Our aid program was never designed to buy friendship but that impression still prevails in many quarters. Direct aid from the United States to any country offers an opportunity to political demagogues within that country to rouse the rabble by attacking Uncle Sam.

"In the eyes of the nations of the world we are 'Mr. Big' and 'Mr. Big' is never popular."

Sen. Morton declared there are dangers ahead if the United States fails to recognize the implications and legitimate aspirations of the nationalism of new and under-developed nations.

He asserted those nations are suspicious of former colonial powers and that that suspicion extends to the United States as part of the western world.

"They (the new nations) may be unskilled in conducting their own affairs," he said, "but they are fiercely resentful of any implication that they are unable to do so. They are jealously proud of their new independence and often feel that this independence must be continuously demonstrated by actions directed against or violently opposed by other states, preferably powerful former colonial states."

Calling these reactions dangerous, Sen. Morton said:

"It is at this point that the two forces — international communism and the new nationalism — can merge in an unholy alliance; for it is in such troubled waters as these that international communism hooks its biggest fish."

Recounting the history of the United Nations, Sen. Morton said the UN "gives us an opportunity to debunk Soviet propaganda and expose to the world the insincerity of the men in the Kremlin."

"It is the fault of the Russians and the Russians alone," he said, "that the development of atomic energy has not been controlled by an international organization and confined to peaceful purposes. In 1946, when we enjoyed an atomic monopoly, we offered to turn everything over to an international agency. A vital part of the plan was a system of effective inspection and to this the Russians refused to agree."

Chafing-dish idea:

Chicken à la Sterling

In top pan of a chafing dish melt 2 tbsp. butter. Add 2 tbsp. chopped scallions and cook until scallions are soft. Add 2 cups cooked chicken, cut into small pieces, 1 tsp. Sterling Salt, ½ cup sliced water chestnuts, 1 tsp. slivered fresh ginger, 1 cup sour cream. Heat thoroughly. Serves 4.

Holiday hint: Don't run out of salt when you need it most—buy two packages of Sterling Salt next time you shop.

Blasts Back At Ike

Truman Says If There's Party Split It's In GOP

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, blasting back again at political remarks of President Eisenhower, said today that if there is any party split it is among the Republicans and not the Democrats.

His reference was to an Eisenhower assertion in Chicago Wednesday night that the Democratic party is so badly split it is two distinct parties.

"The only split I know of is the Republican party," Truman countered today as he left a New York hotel to board a train for Boston.

He said there is a division between "Eisenhower Republicans and old-line economic royalists. There is not much difference between them."

"The President would do well to heal the sores in his own party and let the Democrats take care of their own troubles," he added.

Reporters accompanying Truman to the railway station asked for his comment on another statement by Eisenhower Wednesday night, referring to the end of the Korean war under the Republican administration.

Truman reiterated his contention that Eisenhower had surrendered to the Communists, in effect, to halt the conflict.

"That's what caused all his troubles in the Near East and the Far East, too," Truman said. "They are now paying the fiddler."

Truman's trip to Boston, winding up his national campaigning for Democratic congressional candidates, was something of a sentimental journey.

The ex-President didn't sound half as tough as some of his campaign oratory might imply as he explained the purpose of his trip to the hub where Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) appeared supremely confident of re-election.

Truman's motives were simple. Rep. John McCormack (D-Mass) House majority leader, is a close personal friend and was his loyal supporter when he was in the White House.

And, since tonight's dinner in Boston is in honor of McCormack's nephew, State Atty. Gen. Edward McCormack — now serving by appointment and a candidate for election—Truman thought it only right for him to join in the celebration.

It was the same sort of sentimental streak that brought the 74-year-old Democratic campaigner hurrying back to New York Wednesday night to put in a few more licks for Gov. Averell Harriman.

Harriman, his former secretary of commerce and diplomat, is in the midst of a hectic fight for re-election against Nelson Rockefeller and, as if everybody didn't know already, Truman wanted to make it clear where he stood.

Truman went into Harlem, where as an advocate of civil rights he has a big following, to say that Harriman is a friend of the Negroes, "and if you don't go along with your friends you'll deserve what you get."

Truman is expected to develop the civil rights theme further in his address in Boston tonight.

He hasn't any more political speeches in mind until he winds up his campaigning with a major talk in St. Louis the Saturday night before election.

Despite Earnings Reports

Business News Still Leans Strongly To Good Side

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The business news today still leans strongly to the good side despite some sad nine-months earnings reports.

Official statistics are reassuring. Output is rising in some of the basic industries. Prices are firm or rising on industrial materials.

The total of unemployment is shrinking a bit now—and a further drop is expected to be announced as November starts.

Most reassuring is the return of confidence to business leaders and to consumers.

Even many of those corporate executives announcing shrinking earnings so far this year are predicting that the final three months should show a nice reversal.

But there's still no sign yet of any runaway boom. Only in the stock market is there enthusiastic counting of chickens before they've hatched.

In industrial circles there's more caution due to the belief that the surprising rebound of the economy during July and August probably slowed down a bit in September and October.

A chief worry is what any further rise in interest rates and tightening of the money supply might do to the recovery.

The bond market is already badly shaken and looking hard for buyers. More big corporate issues are reported on the way. Local governments still have borrowing needs unsatisfied.

The U.S. Treasury is coming into the money market the first half of next month to raise another three billion dollars of new money to meet its needs for cash. It may have to eschew bonds and look to the banks for short-term funds.

Speculation on the probability of a further rise in interest rates is growing.

The building industry frets lest tight money again trip up the housing boom, as purchasers search for mortgage money at rates they can afford.

But in industry itself the news is mostly good.

Output of steel, aluminum and copper has increased. So have their prices, along with lead and zinc.

Durable goods manufacturers are believed to have reduced their inventories of industrial materials down to a level consistent with new orders, which have been reported increasing.

The oil industry, suffering from a surplus of gasoline stocks, expects the demand for fuel oil and diesel oil to offset this.

And the Agriculture Department says that farm cash receipts are running 11 per cent ahead of a year ago.

Authorities Seek Killer's Identity In Man's Death

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Having answered one "who?"—identity of a man's body found in a lake southwest of here Tuesday — authorities today sought answer to another "who?"—identity of the man who killed him.

The man's body was identified positively Wednesday as that of Richard Brown, 22, a carpenter who lived just over the Trumbull County line in Mahoning County near Mineral Ridge. His wife, Carole, 21, and his father, Thomas Brown of Austintown, made the identification.

Mahoning County's chief deputy, Frank Reese, said Mrs. Brown told him she last saw her husband about 10 p.m. Oct. 10. But it was not until last Saturday that she reported him missing. She said he left to meet someone and had at least $500 with him.

When Brown's body was found floating on Cedar Lake, a private lake south of Lordstown, there was a bullet hole in his head, and Coroner Harry Elston Jr. said it "looks like homicide, not suicide."

Brown and his wife, who from May, 1957, until last month was secretary of Carpenters Local 171, were accused in the embezzlement of $14,645 in union funds. The charges, brought in late August, involved appropriation of three signed checks. The pair had been freed on bond, pending disposition of the charges.

Nixon, Like Truman, Plays 'Mean' Piano

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Vice President Nixon, listening to background music at a GOP rally Wednesday, commented he liked it fine.

"I used to play a mean piano myself," he added.

"Just like Harry Truman," someone commented from the crowd.

"And that's about the only thing we have in common," Nixon retorted.

Same Operations Due

DOVER, Ohio (AP) — The Columbia Fire Brick Co. will continue to operate on its present basis, its new owner, Clarence F. Retzler has stated. Retzler, who becomes president of the firm, purchased the company Wednesday from the E. A. Bowman family of Canton for an undisclosed price.

In Cleveland Addresses

O'Neill Hits Labor Bosses, Bricker 'Big Government'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The top pair on the state GOP ticket campaigned for re-election here Wednesday night—Gov. C. William O'Neill against "labor bosses" and U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker against "big government."

O'Neill will be here again tonight when he originates his second state-wide telecast from WJW at 8:30 (DST). He has promised to "take the gloves off" and hit "the real issues of the campaign."

Bricker had a tour of Cleveland's harbor with Port Director William J. Rogers this morning and then went to Alliance and Ashtabula.

"My opponent has said the right-to-work issue will be decided on election day and that will end it," O'Neill told a Cleveland Heights audience Wednesday night.

"That is not true. While election day will be decision day for Ohio, the vote that day on right-to-work will affect Ohio for years to come."

A defeat of the proposal would mean, O'Neill said, "a license for . . . labor bosses to build an Ohio in the image of Michigan as it is today."

Labor has "annihilated the Republican Party in Michigan," the governor said. Labor leaders have been able to elect regents of the University of Michigan and put a former CIO organizer on the Michigan Supreme Court, O'Neill said.

Bricker's main speech was to the Western Reserve Women's Republican Club.

"The power of government feeds on the power of government," he told his audience of about 500. "There is no controlling it once it gets the upper hand."

Bureaucracy, he warned, is the road toward totalitarianism.

"The same thing could happen here as in Italy under Mussolini and in Germany under that unspeakable Hitler."

It started in Germany when individual rights were superseeded by the power of government, Bricker said. And it ended up "by killing six million of those people (the Jews) who contributed so much to Germany, by killing them in the fiery furnaces."

"Stalin killed 15 million Russian peasants and sent 20 million more to a living death in Siberia," Bricker continued.

"Keep the power of the individual. Never let the government become your master."

DiSalle Calls For Overhauling Of Ohio's Personnel Policies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic nominee for governor, called today for a complete overhaul of Ohio's personnel policies and a reappraisal of salaries paid state employes.

Present conditions, he said in a speech prepared for delivery here, "are not conducive to good employe morale and make a mockery of civil service."

DiSalle said the state payroll now includes some 14,000 to 15,000 employes who have not taken competitive examinations and are presently classified as provisional appointees.

He said some 10 per cent are misclassified and perform duties unrelated to their job titles, "and there are many instances of employes doing similar work at different rates of pay."

In addition, he continued, "there have been conspicuous examples of harassment of state employes for political contributions and the use of state employes' time on the job for political campaign activity."

DiSalle said his own program, if elected, would include:

An organized recruitment policy to attract qualified employes, reclassification of all employes not performing duties covered by their job titles, salary readjustment to provide corresponding pay for persons performing similar duties and increases comparable to similar jobs in private industry, proper and accessible lines of authority and communications through employes, directors and department heads up to the governor's office.

Grange Refuses To Take Stand On Right To Work

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Ohio State Grange, like the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, has declined to take a stand on a proposal to regulate contracts between labor unions and employers.

The 300 delegates to the Grange's 86th annual convention voted Wednesday to make no recommendation on the proposed constitutional amendment, which will be submitted to Ohio voters Nov. 4.

The Farm Bureau Federation took similar action at a meeting last November.

A resolution making all labor unions accountable for union finances was adopted by the Grange, which has a membership of 185,000.

Other resolutions adopted called for a statewide referendum on a uniform time system, safety flashers on rural mail vehicles, and a balanced national budget without jeopardizing our national security.

Delegates also urged that rural areas be given equal treatment on Ohio Bell Telephone Co. rate increases. Cities have been successful in holding rate hikes to fractional amounts of the company's original requests, Grange leaders said, "but rural areas have been increased the full amount."

Columbus was picked as the 1960 convention site. Next year's meeting will be at Cincinnati.

Talks Still Deadlocked In Glass Worker Tieup

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bargaining affecting 25,000 employes of Pittsburgh Plate and Libbey-Owens-Ford glass companies continued deadlocked today on incentive pay rates and other issues.

The United Glass and Cereamics Workers Union and the two companies renewed negotiations here Wednesday. Talks were broken off when the strike was called Oct. 11.

Neither side has disclosed demands or offers, but a company spokesman had said prior to the bargaining here that wages were not the main cause of the dispute.

Course Slated For Milk Testing Supervisors

LISBON — A short course for milk testing supervisors will be held at Ohio State University Nov. 10-20, according to Floyd Lower, Columbiana County extension agent.

The course will include instruction in owner sampler and official testing procedures sponsored by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Persons interested in enrolling should contact the county agriculture office.
